OKLAHOMA GOVERNOR INDICTED

Executive Accused of Accepting Bribe in Bank Fraud Case
OFFICIALS OF BANK ARE UNDER ARREST

Failure of Big Okmulgee Institutions Brings Grand Jury Probe

OKMULGEE, Okla., March 22—Governor J. B. A. Robertson of Oklahoma, was indicted by the district court grand jury which investigated alleged state bank failures scandals at Oklahoma, it was announced today.

Robertson was indicted on a charge of bribery. He left Oklahoma City at noon today to submit to arrest here.

Announcement that the governor has been indicted came following the arrest of John H. Reboil and Joan Cook on indictments, charging them with giving a bribe of $25,000 to Governor Robertson and Fred G. Dennis, former bank commissioner.

Cook was president and Reboil vice president of the Guaranty State bank which merged with the Bank of Commerce here about a year ago.

The Bank of Commerce failed November 2, last.

The exact nature of the bribery charges against Robertson were not announced.

Superior Judge Christopher, fled from the state following a near riot which occurred in his courtroom when he dismissed the jury.

The Ku Klux Klan put on a demonstration on the streets of Okmulgee that night.

Following refusal of Robertson to accept Christopher's resignation, the judge returned to Okmulgee from Chicago and defended his action.

Cook and Reboil were arrested today also charged in four other indictments with accepting money on deposit after the bank was insolvent.

Other indictments returned by the grand jury implicate Roy Brown, president of the Bank of Commerce and John Hammond, at one time connected with the Guaranty State bank.

26 Democrats Launch New Fight In Senate to Amend Pact as Vote Near

By LAWRENCE MARTIN (United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The last stand of the four-power treaty opponents in the senate is to be made on the Robinson amendment reservation which the senate recently rejected.

Twenty-six Democratic senators have agreed to join in another effort to incorporate the Robinson proposal in the resolution of ratification of the treaty or as an amendment to the treaty or as a reservation.

Four Republican in-conciliates will join them. Three more votes are being sought to bring the total to 33—enough to defeat rejection if the Robinson plan is not accepted by the treaty's supporters.

Robinson's proposal is that the nations signing the treaty agree to respect the rights and territory of all other nations and that nations outside the four-power compact be invited to an international conference if a dispute arises touching their interests.

The Democrats have been trying to pledge senators favoring the treaty to vote against ratification unless Robinson's proposal is included. Indications today were that the plan would fail through because certain Democrats who are willing to vote for the Robinson reservation have refused to vote against the treaty if the reservation is not accepted.

The senate resumed debate today under agreement to limit senators to an hour's debate on the treaty and half an hour on each reservation beginning at 3 p. m. Debate began at 11 a. m. with a number of formal speeches in prospect, including Senators Pomeroy, Ohio, Democrat, Walsh, Massachusetts, Democrat, Shortridge, California and La Follette, Wisconsin, Republicans.

Senator Shortridge said he hoped the senate would get over the notion held by some of its members that the treaty interfered with control by congress of the war-declaring power. Neither does it "strip the United States of a single bit of its sovereign power," he said.

Prince and Pugilistic Secretary 'Inhale' Chicago on Way to Coast

CHICAGO, March 22.—Prince Ali Ibrahim, nephew of the king of Egypt and Blink McCloskey, pugilist, his social secretary, were in Chicago today.

Blink did the talking. "Hizzoner, the prince, wanted to inhale Chicago so I fetched him. We's on our way to Hollywood. The prince'll show 'em a few tricks out there. The prince is the berries. He's an all around athlete and gives me a tough battle once in a while. We pay forty smacks a day for this dump," said Blink of a suite in the Blackstone hotel.

ALLIES MAKE TERMS EASY FOR GERMANY

Partial Moratorium Is Granted Teutons By Allied Body: May Mortgage Berlin For Debt.

PARIS, March 22.—The Temps this afternoon announced authoritatively that a partial moratorium has been granted Germany by the allied reparations commission. A proviso in the allied note preserves the Reichsbank's autonomy, according to the Temps, but requires the German government to meet contract internal and external loans to meet payments required for 1922.

If Germany is unsuccessful in negotiating the required loans, the German capital would be mortgaged, according to the allied agreement.

Germany must pay 750,000,000 gold marks cash this year and 1,450,000,000 marks in kind. If later payments are not forthcoming, the balance is to be collected in cash.

Bank President Nabbed In Raid On Rum Runners

MIAMI, Fla., March 22.—War on rum smugglers and bootleggers raged unabated today on a battle front extending down the Atlantic seaboard from Charleston to Key West.

Five flying squadrons, composed of more than forty picked federal agents, sent here to break up an alleged "gigantic liquor smuggling conspiracy," today resumed raiding operations.

At least one airplane was known to be co-operating with land forces in this section.

More than twenty-five arrests had been made including C. M. Clayton, vice president of the Miami National bank.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 22.—The word, a fifty ton lugger, loaded with liquor said to be worth $20,000 and manned by a skipper and crew of nine, all heavily armed, was seized by prohibition officials, half a mile offshore in Lake Pontchartrain early today.

EFFORTS TO CHANGE SIZE OF ARMY FAIL

WASHINGTON, March 22.—All attempts to alter the size of the army from the 115,000 enlisted men provided in the army appropriations bill were squelched in the house late today.

Amendments providing for an army of 50,000, Representative Quinn, Massachusetts, Democrat; 100,000 by Representative Sisson, Democrat, Mississippi, and 150,000 by Representative Kahn, California, Republican, were overwhelmingly defeated.

Ten Planes Capture S. A.

CHAPMAN POINTS TO VITAL NEED OF APPROVING SEWER BONDS

In order that citizens may have an opportunity to discuss the proposed bond issues thoroughly, in order that any citizen who has questions to ask may put them directly to city officials, the board of city trustees has called a mass meeting to be held at the Santa Ana city hall at 7:30 o'clock March 28. The trustees and heads of city departments will be present.

Declaring that the passage of the proposed sewer bonds at the election to be held in Santa Ana April 4, is of paramount interest to the development of Santa Ana, of vital consequence to the health of the community, and of pressing importance, City Trustee Charles H. Chapman today discussed the plans of the city authorities for providing the city with what he points out will be an adequate and complete sewer system.

In a measure, Chapman's statements today are in reply to statements made in a communication last week by George McPhee, who said that four years ago the city had estimates from S. H. Finley and Ransom Reid for an outfall sewer to cost $127,000, and that now the city sewer system, under it, if will be possible to do away with every cesspool in the city. Under the estimates and plans referred to by Mr. McPhee for four years ago, complete sewerage of the city was not possible. The outfall was on an estimate for a city of 25,000. Our plans are for an outfall for a city of the future of as high as 100,000. Moreover, the plan for the outfall does not rest on an estimate of $321,000 for the outfall alone. Our joint share with Anaheim includes a 60-acre treatment farm and works and for a 30-foot right-of-way and for an outfall line much larger than was contemplated in the estimates referred to by Mr. McPhee. Of the $321,000 total for sewers, there will be $172,000 for outfall and treatment plant, as against the $127,000 estimate referred to by Mr. McPhee. Not only is there a difference in the cost of materials and labor now over four years ago, but sewer lines now provide a treatment plant. The state law requires it. We have got to have it.

"There is an item of $149,000 in the $321,000 total that is to be for branch sewer lines to make it possible for the entire city to be sewerage and to connect Santa Ana with the treatment plant east of Talbert."

Great Care Us'd Chapman said that great care had been used by the city authorities in getting the plans made for the outfall and in getting estimates.

"The figures were checked and re-checked and re-checked until there could be no question about the matter."

W. W. Hoy, city engineer for Santa Ana, and O. E. Steward, city engineer for Anaheim, had their plans and estimates passed upon by W. C. Poe, well known consulting engineer of Los Angeles. The proceedings and acts leading up to the ballot have been gone at in a thoroughly business-like way, and with an eye to economy as well as to providing Santa Ana with an adequate sewer system. These plans have been gone over and approved by the state authorities. There was nothing left undone to safeguard the interests of the people of the city."

In relation to the use of the sewer line owned by the Southern California Sugar company, Chapman said that a few months ago the city came to the point where the contract under which the city had been using the sewer line of the sugar company was at an end. The city was at the mercy of the sugar company. Conferences were held, and by the suzerainty of the sugar company, with the expectation that Santa Ana would proceed to take care of its own sewage, the sugar company agreed to give the city a contract for the use of the sewer line for one year.

British Troops May Return To Ireland As Crisis Near

LONDON, March 22.—"It may be necessary to throw a cordon of British troops about the troubled area, along the Ulster border," Winston Churchill, minister for the colonies, announced in the house of commons this afternoon. The situation in Ireland, Churchill declared, was growing steadily worse.

The British government is gravely concerned over the Irish situation, the colonial minister indicated and will not hesitate to send troops to the aid of which ever side is attacked.

Any demand from Ulster for troops would be promptly complied with, Churchill said.

The view taken here is that rebellious factions in the South have organized to sabotage the free state. Blame is laid upon Republican leaders, including Eamon De Valera, for the trouble.

It was announced in commons that if the British government were forced to take a hand, it would be "real war" with airplanes, tanks and artillery.

HARDING, DENBY MAY JOIN IN BATTLE ON NAVAL SLASH PLANS

(United Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Lines were drawn for the fight in congress over the future size of the navy today when the house naval affairs committee reported out a bill providing for a navy of 80,000 enlisted men and 3,440 officers.

The reduction proposed is from the present navy strength of 131,385 men and 5551 officers. The navy committee bill will have the support of President

Harding and Secretary Denby against the recommendations of the house sub-committee on naval appropriations, which is expected to bring in a bill soon providing only for 65,000 men, but leaving the officer strength approximately as it now stands.

The fight on the house floor over the size of the navy will follow closely on the heels of the controversy over the reduced army now being debated by the lower branch of congress.

DRY BODY HURLS QUIZ SURGEONS WET CHARGE AT THEO. BELL

(United Press Leased Wire)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—Theodore Bell, prominent politician, and the Anti-Saloon league exchanged compliments today.

The league issued a statement charging Bell switched from the Democratic to the Republican party in order to aid the cause of the wets and particularly the Holy Rosikrucians church for which he was said to be the attorney. The Rosikrucians are seeking permits to drink wine.

Bell first laughed at the statement and then charged that the Anti-Saloon league has fostered legislation which makes bootlegging thrive.

"The day after prohibition became effective I tested the law," Bell said, explaining that he receives little revenue from liquor interests.

"Since then I have received one fee as a result of booze laws. That was $100 which I received from the Rosikrucians for legal advice."

"In that time I have spent probably $5000 fighting what I believe is a pernicious law."

PRAISE OF WINE SONG BY POINCARÉ IN PARIS

PARIS, March 22.—"If wine were bad for the health, this fact would have been known since the days of the Romans and Greeks—since Genesis," said Premier Poincaré last night at a banquet held in connection with the closing of Wine week.

"America," the premier continued, "is, of course, the mistress of her own internal legislation, but she must recognize the truth as stated by the Anglo-Saxon poet—wine is health, courage and life."

JAPANESE END FIGHT FOR SLASH IN ARMY

LOS ANGELES, March 22.—Harry Ayala, 26, is in the morgue here today with two bullet holes through his heart as the result of an alleged attempt to rob the Elysian Park avenue home of Cecil G. Amenta.

Detective Sergeant J. C. Davis shot Ayala as he ran from the house after Ayala had fired two bullets at the officer.

WIFE SUES ARBUCKLE GUEST FOR DIVORCE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 22.—Lowell Sherman, movie star, one of the "Fatty" Arbuckle party in San Francisco, during which Virginia Rappe died, is being sued for divorce here by Mrs. Evelyn Booth Sherman New York.

The papers are sealed and no information as to the grounds for the suit is obtainable. The case will be heard on depositions in chambers.

AIR HISTORY IS WRITTEN AS 26 MEN FLY HERE FOR VISIT

An airplane squadron captured Santa Ana today.

And as the city was captured, a signal honor was done to Glenn L. Martin, former Santa Ana, now one of the foremost airplane manufacturers and designers in the world.

While hundreds stood by and showed their appreciation of man's mastery over air, new aviation history was written in this city at noon.

Ten airplanes, carrying twenty-six men, swooped down on the new Santa Ana landing field.

Officials of the Commercial Aircraft association of Los Angeles stated that it was their belief that it was the first undertaking in California if not the United States, where a group of commercial airplanes had flown from one city to another.

All of the men who came to Santa Ana are interested in aviation in a commercial way. Roy F. Grady, president of the Commercial Aircraft association, and L. C. Brand, president of the Title Guaranty company of Los Angeles, were among those who made the trip. Brand maintains planes and pilots for his own use.

Grady stated it was his belief that the airplane is coming to the front rapidly and that in a few years it would be as commonly used as the automobile.

The first plane to arrive here was piloted by Frank Clark. Three planes landed at intervals. Seven came in the next and last group.

Those connected with the flight were guests of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce at St. Ann's Inn at noon.

Glenn Martin, famous Santa Ana connected with the airplane industry, was present at the luncheon.

Martin Urges Field The advisability of Santa Ana establishing a landing field was emphasized by a number of speakers at the Chamber of Commerce dinner given at St. Ann's Inn in honor of Martin and the visiting aviators.

"Airplanes must have terminals," declared Martin. "I'd like to see my own city here as among the first to recognize the on-coming importance of flying and to see it seize this important phase of modern life."

Alex Brownridge, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presided. Speakers included J. B. Webster, E. H. Barrett, Leon T. Elliot, Gary Carr, R. W. Powell, Earl F. Daugherty and Roy Cradle. The address of welcome was by Dr. McVicker Smith of Santa Ana, formerly with the army aircraft department.

Barrett declared that in a short time federal control of the air would be legally established. Powell pointed out the need of federal encouragement of commercial air ventures if the United States is to take place in aircraft development along with several European countries.

Martin touched on the history of transportation, saying that any reliable method that saves time in delivery of goods and passengers is bound to be a big thing.

Big Defense Weapon "From an armament point of view," said Martin, reviewing the tests made by the navy last June and July in which Martin's great bombers proved tremendously efficient, "it was demonstrated that the airplane is the great weapon of defense to be had. Supremacy of the air is any nation's safeguard. With supremacy in the air any nation may write its own peace terms. No ship can float against airplane attack properly conducted."

"Since New York could be wiped out in a single night by gas dropped by airplanes, the importance of control of the air is recognized by the authorities. The air department is the one department that is not to be cut as a result of the conference."

"In the future, I see limited trains being taken off of the railroads because passengers will be delivered more quickly by air. I see most of the express going by air. I see air lanes marked for night flying as well as day flying."

Among others beside Cradle and Brand in the aviation party were G. W. Carr, secretary of the Commercial Aircraft association; Frank Clarke, Frank Tomick, Reinald Balmer, Howard Patterson, Gene Davis, W. E. Kinser, Erving G. Diess, Earl Daugherty, J. B. Webster, George Harrison, Robert W. Powell, Leon Elliot, T. H. Hamilton, Elmer Bramley, Elliott Barrett, William Cross, Phil Morey, Bud Creech, Ivar Shogran, Harry Crawford, G. G. Budwig, J. G. Montford and Victor H. Stahl.

Among those who furnished automobiles in which to convey the aviators to the hotel and who acted as a reception committee were Alex Brownridge, J. C. Metzgar, J. E. Liebig, L. G. Swales, Sam Jernigan and Charles D. Spicer.

RICH RANCHER KILLS SELF ACCIDENTALLY

SAN JOSE, Cal., March 22.—Ivan G. Treadwell, wealthy rancher and son of James Treadwell, famous Alaskan gold miner, was instantly killed when he accidentally discharged a shotgun in his garage at his ranch near here today.

Treadwell was 45 years of age and was one of the most prominent ranchers of this district, both on account of his father's great notoriety and on account of the wealth he inherited from him.

Treadwell leaves a widow and three children.

$250,000 Loss as Fire Sweeps Through Portland Cereal Plant

PORTLAND, Ore., March 22.—Fire caused by a series of dust explosions destroyed the three top floors of the six-story concrete Olympic cereal plant of the Portland Flouring mills here early today resulting in damage estimated at $250,000.

The flames reached their greatest intensity shortly after 8 o'clock, firemen being seriously hampered by a series of small explosions from accumulated dust in the conveyers and the intense heat.

Four firemen were in considerable danger for a time when an aerial ladder swayed and snapped beneath their weight, the men clinging to window ledges on the fifth floor until rescued. The mill was built in 1919 at a cost of $800,000. The loss is entirely covered by insurance.

TEXAS OPENS WAR ON BOLD NIGHT RIDERS

Big Rewards Are Offered For Capture of Daring Bands; Ku Klux Klan Joins In Fight.

DALLAS, Tex., March 22.—Texas authorities today began an offensive against masked and unmasked night riders and terrorists responsible for scores of whippings and floggings in Texas since the first of the year.

Rewards totaling $2,600 by the K. K. K. have been offered for the apprehension of the floggers.

BEAUMONT, Tex., March 22.—A reward of $500 for night riders who whipped two men in this vicinity since Saturday was offered by the city commission today.

The Church of the Blessed Sacrament, a negro Catholic institution, received notes threatening to dynamite the place if the congregation attended services by a white priest and warning the pastor of the church to leave town under penalty of being tarred and feathered.

Letters were signed "K. K. K."

Note Bares U. S. Stand for Share Of Reparations

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Identical notes from the American government are being delivered to the allied powers today outlining this country's claim for the payment of $241,000,000 to cover the cost of the United States army of occupation in Germany.

The notes addressed to Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium and Japan will be made public tomorrow.

Briefly the attitude of the United States as set forth in the note is:

The claim for repayment of the costs of the maintenance of the American forces in Germany is a solemn obligation.

Recognition and granting of the claim is doubly binding on the allied cause since it was at the urgent solicitation of the allies that the American troops were kept in Germany.

There was a solemn agreement between the allies and associated powers that the payment of the costs of the armies of occupation should constitute a first lien on the assets of Germany.

LOS ANGELES, March 22.—Theodore Kosloff, Russian dancer and balletmaster, and his wife Alexandra Kosloff were made defendants in a suit for $5000 filed in the United States district court here by Charles McChapman, a New York attorney.

The Kosloffs are employed in the motion picture industry here.

Democratic Solons Lining Up for Bitter Fight on Bonus 'Gag Rule'

By CARL D. GROAT (United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Democratic congressmen lined up today for a futile fight on the gag plan by means of which the soldier bonus will be passed in the house tomorrow. They, with perhaps some Republican anti-bonus support, will attack the special rule reported out today by the rules committee and which when adopted tomorrow will cause "suspension of the rules" of the house and allow four hours debate on the bonus bill.

Conservative estimates are that there will not be more than seventy-five votes against the bill.

The word is being passed around the house that President Harding almost certainly will not veto the present bill. In fact, Chairman Fordney, of the ways and means committee, is quoted as saying substantially: "The president told us that the present bill meets some of his objections."

As the situation now stands, the house members will be able to go forth in the fall campaigns and say to the voters: "We have passed the bonus for the soldiers; we are entitled to your votes. If the measure is not perfected, it is only a question of time when it is finished in the upper body."

UNION HEAD SAYS 600,000 TO QUIT

Harding May Make Appeal for Conference to Halt Walkout

(United Press Leased Wire)

CLEVELAND, March 22.—Possibility that the railroad brotherhoods, 2,500,000 strong, may give their support to the 600,000 mine workers ordered to strike at midnight March 31 was seen today as Cleveland became the center of what may become the greatest mine strike in history.

This possibility was revealed in the admission from brotherhood officials that "this protective agreement" between miners and brotherhoods "will doubtless receive the sanction of the railroad organizations. The executive board of the United Mine Workers, it was said, already has ratified the agreement."

Another factor that strengthened this belief was the selection of Cleveland, home of the brotherhood chiefs, for the meeting of the policy committee of the United Mine Workers to prepare plans for a walkout of miners throughout the United States and Canada.

While nothing has occurred that would lead to the belief that a sympathetic strike might be called, it is pointed out that brotherhood finances are practically unlimited. Brotherhood finances, it was said, would provide the miners with much needed backing, in case of a long-drawn-out fight.

NEW YORK, March 22.—The great coal strike called for midnight March 31, will be 100 per cent effective, officials of the United Mine Workers of America declared here today.

Reports from the anthracite and bituminous fields throughout the United States indicate that virtually every one of the 600,000 miners will obey the order to suspend work.

President John L. Lewis, of the United Mine Workers, who issued the order here yesterday, believes there will be no rebel movement in the union ranks.

The mine union officials are going ahead with plans for the great walkout, just as if there were no chance of federal intervention, or possible settlement of the trouble in any mine district.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—A public appeal by President Harding to co-operators and miners to settle their differences and avoid a nationwide suspension of work April 1, may be made within a week.

Harding has consulted Attorney General Daugherty, it was learned, to find what steps he might take toward backing up the move to make in inviting the bituminous operators to conference.

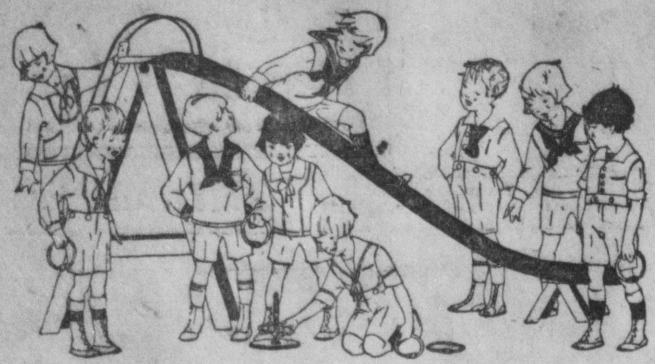

Daugherty told him, according to reliable information, he knew of no legal steps that might be taken by any agent of the government toward settlement before the fuel supply of the nation is imperiled by the walkout.

Face Big Problem
"The sugar factory is not going to operate this year, and that is the only reason in the world why we are allowed to use this line this year. If the factory operates next year, where will we be unless we build an outfall of our own? Absolutely. Santa Ana is up against a real problem. The most important duty that Santa Ana owes to itself right now is to take care of its sewage. The way out of our troubles lies in carrying these sewer bonds. It is of such immense importance to the people of this city that I cannot do otherwise than urge the voters of the city to come to a realization of the situation, and once they realize the absolute necessity of immediate action I am sure they will find themselves strongly for the sewer bonds."

GEORGE L. ROGERS SUMMONED BY DEATH

The services will be held tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. at the Mission Funeral home of Mills and Winbigler, with the Rev. William J. Richards officiating.

ALLEGED FUR BANDIT ENTERS GUILTY PLEA

Ray Stillings, of Santa Ana, this afternoon in department 2 of the superior court, pleaded guilty to a charge of robbery. Next Saturday, at 9:30 a. m., was set as the time for pronouncing judgment.

A plea of guilty to the charge was expected from Stillings, in view of a confession he is alleged to have made recently, in which he implicated Jack Ferguson and J. F. Parsons, who have been sought by the local police since the alleged robbery some weeks ago.

Stillings was one of a group at the home of Mrs. D. L. Summers, 23, on Lyons street, where three Los Angeles fur salesmen were keeping an appointment to sell Stillings a fur coat for Mrs. Summers.

Ferguson and Parsons are alleged to have appeared and robbed the party of furs worth $1,200, and several hundred dollars in money.

LAGUNAN GIVES TALK ON MODERN POETRY

Members of the Present Day club today were reading many interesting points brought out at the meeting of the organization held last night at the home of Judge W. H. Thomas, 425 West Fourth street. Malcolm McClean of Laguna Beach presented an interesting paper on "Modern Poetry." He reviewed the history of poetry from the time of Chaucer, forming a background for the development of his talk on the modern writers. After completing the review, McClean read from the works of some of the moderns. Club members entered into a general discussion of poetry. Representatives from the poetry section of the Ebell club were present.

RAILROAD BOARD HEARING DATE ON U. P. FIXED

Opposition, if there be any, to granting of franchise for the Union Pacific's proposed rail extension into this county, as it relates to the section between Fullerton and the southern limits of Anaheim, must show itself April 6, it was revealed this afternoon when the county of Orange and city of Anaheim received notice of the hearing set for that date and an order from the railroad commission to show cause why such franchise should not be granted.

The railroad commission's hearing is fixed for 11 a. m. on the date mentioned and will be held in the city hall at Anaheim. The hearing relates to the application for franchise between the south limits of Fullerton and the south limits of Anaheim.

Unless opposition not so far apparent should develop between now and the time of the hearing, there is no reason, seemingly, to anticipate a contest at the time appointed. The city of Anaheim has already granted a franchise for the rail line through that municipality. It is understood, however, that the railroad commission is empowered to revoke that franchise if it sees fit.

To date the only opposition to the railroad extension in this county has come from the district between Olive, Orange and Tustin, where a branch line is opposed unless it uses present Southern Pacific tracks through that territory; and from Orange, where there is a sentiment against the locating of right of way along Batavia street instead of paralleling the Santa Fe line.

WIFE FINES HUSBAND AT KIWANIS MEETING

Neal Beisel, manager for Brydon Brothers, received the shock and surprise of his life in a "stunt" that was one of the big features of one of the "peppiest" meetings the Kiwanis club has held recently, when Mrs. Beisel presented herself at the club luncheon today at St. Ann's Inn and "scorched" her better half for "staying out nights and then running away at noon today to the Kiwanis luncheon."

The "attack" of the dutiful wife was as much a surprise to members of the club as it was to the husband and for a moment Beisel did not know whether his "boss" was in earnest or only jesting. She imposed a fine of $2 on her alleged delinquent husband and this went into the treasury of the club. Mrs. Beisel acted the "stunt" cleverly and the Kiwanians gave her an ovation. These "buccannery" operations at the meetings and with toy pistols collected fines here and there and made the room resound with the pop of their guns. Cotton Mather, Raymond Miles and Stanley Reed composed the hold-up brigade.

A vocal selection by R. H. Siddoway and violin solos by Ollime Enlow Mathews were other features on the program.

S. J. Cornell was chairman of the day, and had as his guest and special speaker, Fred J. Perry, special representative of the Queen Fire Insurance company and lecturer on fire insurance at the University of California.

Perry spoke briefly on various lines of insurance.

EDISON RATE FIGHT WITNESS COLLAPSES

LOS ANGELES, March 22.—Professor George J. Eberle, of the University of Southern California, collapsed this afternoon while testifying for the Associated Cities of Southern California in the Edison company rate case before the state railroad commission.

Eberle was carried from the room and escorted home.

P. E. OFFICIALS REGRET CITY ULTIMATUM

That officials of the Pacific Electric Railway company do not meet with entire approval the ultimatum of the city of Santa Ana that, unless the company names, by next Monday evening, the four streets over which to operate its busses, the council will itself designate the thoroughfares, became known here today.

While D. W. Pontius, vice president of the company, said in Los Angeles that he had received no word to that effect from the council, he expressed regret that such steps had been taken. He also declined to state what action would be taken on the receipt of the ultimatum, which was mailed yesterday by City Clerk E. L. Vegely.

Sees No Reason For It
"I can see no reason why the city of Santa Ana should decree that we select our streets within a certain time," Pontius declared, "since the franchise simply provided that we get our busses in operation within four months' time."

"It is a question of business with us and we desire to co-operate with all parties concerned. At the same time we desire to go over the situation thoroughly. It takes time to secure the busses and arrange the scores of minor details that are included in such a program."

"It is to our advantage to get our business started as quickly as possible and I think it is safe to say that we will be ready to operate within forty-five days."

Hitch Over Streets.
The hitch in the proceedings comes over the selection of the two north and south streets within the two east and west streets over which the company's busses will operate.

Councilmen last Monday night declared that the ordinance granting the franchise to the Pacific Electric Land company, subsidiary to the Pacific Electric Railway company, was being held up pending the designation of the streets.

Clyde Bishop, special counsel for the city, today said:

"The streets over which the company will operate its busses have to be named in the ordinance when it is passed," Bishop said. "The council desires to get it out of the way without further delay. The Pacific Electric doesn't have to start operations here until four months after the passing of the ordinance."

GIRL, 9, VICTIM OF FIRE, STILL LIVES

Despite intense suffering, Helen Jones, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Jones, 610 West Fourth street, who sustained frightful burns Monday afternoon, about the face, hands and chest, still lived today.

The physician in charge stated that she was holding her own and doing as well as could be expected. The little girl had lighted a small bunch of papers in the garage at the rear of her house. The flames caught her on fire, causing terrible burns.

PASSES INCOME TAX 'BUCK' TO COLLECTOR

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—One California citizen went one step farther than the motto on the dollar when he sent in his income tax return with a signed check but the amount left blank, asking John P. McLaughlin, collector of internal revenue, to fill in the amount of the tax.
"The writer said that if his bank balance did not equal the tax he could borrow $100 more," said McLaughlin, "and that he wished to do what was right by his government. Investigation showed he did not have to pay any tax at all."

City and County

Are you from Missouri? If so, you were probably shaping your plans today to attend the big picnic that former residents of the "Show Me" state are planning to hold all day tomorrow at Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles. A monster crowd is expected. President H. W. Amed of the Missouri State society will wield the gavel. The usual picnic features will be in order. "Bring your own picnic dinner," is the word that has gone out from the society's headquarters in Los Angeles.

With permits calling for $6,500 building operations issued by City Building Inspector W. S. Decker this morning, the total for the first twenty-two days of March reached $230,955. The total since January 1 was $686,676.

The meeting of the board of education, which was scheduled for this afternoon, was indefinitely postponed, pending the completion of the architect's plans for the new schools on South Flower street and on East Fourth street.

W. P. Billingsley desires to transport freight and express between Placentia and the wholesale business district of Los Angeles, and has applied to the railroad commission for the necessary certificate, according to a wireless telegram, and it has been operating irregularly between Los Angeles and Brea and says there is need for a service operating on regular schedule.

The demand for copies of The New University Dictionary being offered to readers of The Register has been so great that the supply has become exhausted. It is hoped that an additional shipment will be received here in ten days.

Ten members of the high school engineering club at the local high school last evening listened to an address given in the Hotel Alexandria, Los Angeles, by Herbert Hoover. The hotel management arranged to have the speech carried into the air by wireless telegraph, and the receivers, attached to the apparatus at the high school, enabled the young men, under the direction of H. A. Alleman, to listen in. It is understood that more than 600 similar stations received the talk.

MORE ROOM PLANNED FOR CELLS AT JAIL

LOS ANGELES, March 22.—The county jail has a capacity of 325 inmates. The number now in the jail is 595. The overcrowded condition of the jail has given the board of supervisors a great deal of worry. The supervisors discussed the matter and decided as follows:
The sheriff's offices and the offices now in the county jail building will be transferred to the Zahn building recently bought by the county. The partitions will be taken down and the space occupied by the offices will be converted into cells. These new cells will accommodate 200.
A court will be built underneath the bridge of signs, connecting the jail with the hall of justice. Prisoners will use this space as an exercising ground.

POISON THEORY IN CUMBERLAND DEATH TAILS

The poison theory was eliminated today from the Julian F. Cumberland death mystery when the result of a chemical analysis made of his internal organs was announced here. At the same time, however, it was revealed that the investigation had taken a new turn, following a clue found in the financial affairs of the man, whose body was found on the sands at Sunset Beach March 8. This clue was not disclosed.

No sign of poison was found in the dead man's stomach or liver, according to a report filed by Arthur R. Maas, Los Angeles city chemist, with Mr. and Mrs. Rex P. Kratz, of Eagle Rock, son-in-law and daughter of Cumberland.

Maas had been employed by Mr. and Mrs. Kratz to make the analysis in order to settle the question of whether Cumberland might have been poisoned nad his body then "planted" on the beach with a heavy railroad iron wired about its neck to give the impression of a suicide drowning; also, whether he might have made preparations to drown himself and then abandoned that idea to swallow poison instead.

The fact that no water was found in his lungs proved that he had not drowned. The further fact that the wire, to which the weight was fastened, was knotted around Cumberland's neck at the back instead of within easier reach of his own hands, led the authorities to suspect that other hands had placed it there.

This suspicion clung in spite of the fact that on the day before the body was found, Mr. and Mrs. Kratz received a communication, purporting to be a "suicide note" from Cumberland telling them not to search for him he would be "buried in the Pacific." The handwriting was apparently genuine but certain aspects of it, such as several ink blots and a wavering tendency, led the daughter, Mrs. Kratz, to believe that her father had written it under stress, possibly under duress.

Sheriff C. E. Jackson, who is handling the Cumberland investigation from the Orange county side, could not be reached today for an expression of the case, in view of what analysis disclosed, or failed to disclose.

Jackson has steadily inclined to the murder theory as an explanation of Cumberland's death. He has not, however, shown a leaning toward the belief that poison was the means used.

Mrs. Kratz, interviewed by The Register today, stated that the investigation of her father's death had not relaxed.
"We have employed an attorney," she said, "to investigate his business and financial affairs. With the exception of one small angle, which I cannot at present reveal, we have discovered nothing definite that would clear up the case. Our attorney is following up that one angle I have mentioned to see where it leads."

Word to this effect was received from Washington. The bid was said to be $169,000.

Completion of this work will permit the power house at the brigade post to furnish heat and power to both the marine base and the naval training station.

WALL ST. JOURNAL FINANCIAL REVIEW

NEW YORK, March 22.—Industrial and railroads were heavy during the major part of the session on the New York stock exchange today as the result of space given by newspapers to the coal miners strike. The movement was not of the substantial kind, largely representing short sales by traders.

Late in the session the list showed an inclination to recoil under the leadership of Bethlehem steel, which was bought in big blocks up to 70. This, of course, is a new high price for the year for this stock and the independent steel and incidentally the equipments. Chain stores stock had a sharp advance just before the close with Woolworth running up to a new record high price. Woolworth directors meet the second week in April and there is some talk of either increasing dividends from an eight to a ten dollar basis or possibly paying out some of the $36,000,000 treasury stock as a dividend. Woolworth business so far in March is well ahead of last year, even though the comparison is being made with Easter trade in 1921, Easter having fallen on March 27 that year.

The market closed irregular. Closing prices listed:
U. S. Steel, 84, off 7-8; Bethlehem, 78, 7-8, up 1-4; Crucible, 56 5-8, off 1-8.
Features of late trading were strength of Bethlehem "B", which made a new high for the year at 78 and continued heavy selling of Doheney oil stocks. Mexican Petroleum made a new low for the day below 121. After making a new record high at 114 1/2, American Ice sold off to 11. Studebaker showed little life. Certainteed Products advanced three points. Eleven hundred shares of American Telephone and Cable sold at 70, up 1-4 net. Eastman Kodak on odd lots got as high as 74, up 35.

Spinning and Weaving

The development of cotton fabrics is one of the romances of modern times. It is a long trail from the old distaffs and spindles used by Flemish weavers in 1363, producing the coarse and rough "Manchester cottons," to the extraordinary human-like machinery we know today.

Mechanical fingers now pick cotton, cleanse it, card it, rove it, twist it, spin it, dye it, and weave it. They will work any pattern you select, and in as many colors as you choose, and do all with celerity, dexterity, and unexhausted energy and skill.

The whole process of cotton spinning resolves itself into a series of amazing drawings, doublings and twistings.

Spun cotton is of two kinds—warp and weft. The warp of a cloth consists of the threads which run the whole length of it, while the weft goes across and is limited in its progress by the width of the cloth.

There are three important movements in weaving. First, the lifting of the threads of warp to allow the weft to pass through by means of the shuttle. The second is the shuttle movement, from side to side, by which the weft is conveyed. The third motion is the beating up of these weft threads to each other when they have passed through the warp.

It is the various complications among the threads of warp and weft that produces the present-day endless varieties of cotton cloths. Ingenious appliances which control the movement of the threads may be adjusted in countless ways to provide you with the variety of exquisite textures you see in our Exposition of Wash Fabrics.

(P. S.—We may write more on this subject later.)

"DANDERINE"

Grows Thick, Heavy Hair

35-cent Bottle Ends all Dandruff,
Stops Hair Coming Out

Ten minutes after using Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them, helping the hair to grow long, strong and luxuriant. One application of Danderine makes thin, lifeless, colorless hair look youthfully bright, lustrous, and just twice as abundant.

WORN OUT AFTER SHE COOKED A MEAL

Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Read the Result

Cincinnati, Ohio.—"I suffered for a year with nervous troubles and irregularities before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My back pained all the time and I was unfit for housework. I was worn out if I cooked a meal, and was unable to do my washing. My girl friends and my sister told me if I would take your Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills I would be relieved. After taking the first bottle I felt better, and neglected it awhile, but found I could not do my work until I was stronger. So I took the Vegetable Compound again and now I am the mother of a 19 months old boy. He is fat and healthy and I am sure I could never have carried him if it had not been for your medicine. I recommend your medicine to all women although I am young to be advising some one older. Mrs. Chester, Perrine, 318 W. Liberty St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

After the business meeting the group turned its attention to needlework. Mrs. Bishop served a dainty two-course luncheon with yellow appointments, accents being used to decorate. Those attending were:

Baker, was found after the desk had been pried open. No clew was left. This is one of series of small robberies in the last few weeks. In every case nothing but money was taken and the amounts have been very small.

RADIOPHONE CONCERTS
NOVELTY AT WEST END
Radiophone concert!

Have you ever heard one? Harold E. Yost, the wide-awake manager of the West End theater, is "staging" one every night immediately following the first show—about 8:45 o'clock.

The radio receiving station is in the projection booth at the rear of the theater and through a transmitter the program numbers are sent out over the house much after the manner of a phonograph.

Last night's concert was transmitted from the Kinema theater in Los Angeles, where the original program was presented by the orchestra and soloists of that house.

Another equally interesting program is to be presented tonight immediately following the fade-out on "Doubling for Romeo."

Woman's Club

Wild flowers in purple and lavender, brought from the beautifully carpeted hills of Orange county, were used with white iris blooms to deck the pretty home of Mrs. S. E. Littrell, 602 Orange avenue, yesterday afternoon when the members of the Santa Ana Woman's club gathered for their regular meeting.

Mrs. Littrell and Mrs. I. D. Annis were joint hostesses, and in the masses of flowers as they used them, were repeated the club colors of violet and white, and to add a charming variety, was a cluster of vari-colored sweet peas.

About twenty club members were present, and Mrs. C. W. Burns, Mrs. J. E. Kellogg and Mrs. I. M. McGee were welcome guests. All enjoyed the program which was on a topic of universal interest, the motion picture.

The subject was handled by Mrs. Ella Lash and Mrs. I. D. Annis. Mrs. Lash opening with a paper in which she discussed the origin and gradual growth of the industry. Other phases were dealt with by Mrs. Annis who discussed present day problems of the motion picture and the possible and probable effect of the entry of Will H. Hays into the field as director general of the industry.

The papers held the undivided attention of those present and at their close, an unusually spirited discussion brought out opinions from everyone. It was the consensus of opinion that the pictures were advantageous and a splendid thing in modern life but that they should be cleaner, and subject to a more rigid supervision.

Mrs. J. H. Northrop was welcomed into membership while the return to the meetings of Mrs. Henry Diers, after a recent illness was the occasion for rejoicing.

During the pleasant social hour, delectable sandwiches with cake and hot coffee, were served by the hospitable hostesses, Mrs. Littrell and Mrs. Annis.

REV. BROWN NAMED COSTA MESA PASTOR

Residents of Costa Mesa today were interested in the announcement by the Rev. John Oliver, pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, that the Rev. Row S. Brown had been appointed pastor of the church in Costa Mesa, succeeding the Rev. D. H. Reid, who died recently. The Rev. and Mrs. Brown, the latter well known as Mrs. Chisholm Brown, have been missionaries in China, where they did a splendid work, according to the Rev. Mr. Oliver. In recent years they have been working among the churches of Southern California and have been active in Young Peoples' institutes in which Mrs. Brown has been a teacher and inspirational leader. Both are well known in Santa Ana.

Mrs. Brown, delivered a missionary address in the First Methodist church here last Sunday. She asked for a thank offering for the Woman's Foreign Missionary society and the congregation gave $800.

Drama-Music

Following a delicious and daintily served course luncheon at the home of Mrs. George Paul, 124 Buffalo street, Monday, members of the Drama Music section of Ebell enjoyed a most interesting program in the afternoon hours.

Mrs. Paul and Mrs. Marvin Morrison were joint hostesses on the occasion, which was the postponed regular meeting of the section.

American composers and American music figured in the program and a paper on the latter, presented by Mrs. Nat H. Neff, discussed American folk music and whether the name might more fittingly be applied to Indian or to negro melodies. In connection with the subject, Mrs. Neff spoke of a few of the more prominent American composers.

A song group consisting of "The Yellowhammer" and "The Wren" from Liza Lehman's Bird songs, and Ward Stevens' musical setting of Riley's "Little Orphan Annie" and "The Life Lesson" were offered by Mrs. Edward J. Hummel, (Hazel Landers Hummel) as exemplifying work of American composers while a number of Victrola records were used to illustrate the same subject.

A paper on "The Commercial Theatre" have been presented by Mrs. Shafer, was foregone as Mrs. Shafer was unable to be present.

During the business session, the resignation of Mrs. Spenser Collins as secretary-treasurer, was accepted and Mrs. John Jacobs Jr. was appointed to take her place.

NEGRO'S BODY FOUND HANGING TO TREE

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 22.—The body of George Tompkins, negro, apparently lynched a few minutes previously, was found hanging in a tree near the banks of White river, northwest of the city, late this afternoon.

The body, with the hands tied behind his back, was still warm. Fresh automobile tracks marked the ground near the scene. There was no indication of the motive of the hanging and no clue to the identity of the lynchers. The lynching took place near Casino gardens, not far from the Indianapolis motor speedway.

KILLING FATHER AND SISTER BEING SIFTED

CHICAGO, March 22.—The police are investigating the story told here by Frank Lee, 16, colored, that Charles Shader, 19, white, killed his father and sister because he feared they would expose his operations as a burglar. The sister, Margaret, was 16. Shader told the police that she killed herself because her parents objected to her marriage to Lee. Shader admits killing his father, but says he did it in self-defense. He denies killing his sister. The police believe Shader also had a hand in the murder of Policeman Harry J. Busse on January 26. Both youths confessed to more than 160 robberies in the last few years.

AMERICAN WOMEN ARE CARELESS

Women are too apt to overestimate their strength and overtax it. When feeling well they take unnecessary chances, which in the long run cause much pain and trouble. Wet feet, exposure to cold, lifting heavy burdens and overwork will often develop troubles which cause no end of suffering.

Wild Flower Committee Formulates Plans for Contest

Meeting with Mrs. Earl Morris, 812 East First street, members of the wild flower committee of the Fourth District C. of M. and P. T. A. held an important meeting at which plans were completed for the wild flower contest to be held in Orange county school during March, April and until May 13.

The members of the committee, Mrs. A. M. Lindsay, Tustin; Mrs. May Christofferson, Yorba Linda; Mrs. McCollum and Mrs. A. M. Brunner, Villa Park; Mrs. B. R. Day, Garden Grove; Mrs. D. R. Gardner, Orange and Mrs. Morris, Santa Ana, have outlined the terms of the contest which is open to all county schools regardless of their affiliation with the P. T. A.

The flowers must be properly pressed and mounted with their common name marked plainly. The collections will be submitted to Miss Margaret Livingston at the county library headquarters, 508 North Main street, this city, and the high school and grammar school submitting the most complete collection in point of variety and careful pressing and mounting, will each receive a cash prize of $5. The object in giving the prize to the school rather than to the individual, is to allow everyone to share in the reward as they are expected to share in the contest.

The two prize winning collections will be displayed at San Diego at the annual state convention meeting in that city, May 23 to 26. The Fourth District is planning an interesting exhibit of which the wild flower collections will be a part.

The object of the contest, held in connection with wild flower week to be observed generally, late in May, is to instill in the minds of school children, a love of nature and the wonderfully beautiful resources of Orange county, and to teach the conservation of such natural beauties. Quantity in wild flower collections is not desired, only enough specimens to be taken to insure perfect ones for the collection.

P. T. A.

With little people from the kindergarten and first grade of Franklin school presenting an interesting program of songs and exercise numbers under the direction of Miss Linda Mueller, kindergarten director, the Franklin school P. T. A. held a most enjoyable meeting in the kindergarten rooms yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. J. H. Stewart presided in her official capacity and with Mrs. M. N. Joplin acted as hostess for the afternoon. In addition to the numbers given by the children, Mrs. Nat. H. Neff sang in her usual charming manner.

Among the business matters considered was the appointment of delegates to represent the Franklin P. T. A. at the approaching district convention to be held at the Congregational church, March 31. These delegates named were Mesdames Best, M. N. Joplin, Coones and Lehman. The afternoon closed with a short social hour during which Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Joplin served delicious coffee with dainty wafers.

Spring Comes in a Blaze of Color

by Marie Stahl

Color is the most noticeable thing about the fashions for spring. For several seasons women have gone about dressed in black from the top of their hats to the soles of their shoes. All that is now passed and we see color from the tip top of the hat to the colored and often jeweled heels of her shoes.

Nor is Color modest about announcing herself one of the chief characteristics of the spring garments. There is nothing modest about it. It arrives in a blaze and a blaze, in all the brightest shades and in the most intense hues. It is the first thing one sees when looking over the spring clothes.

Navy is perhaps the most popular color for gowns and suits, though Paris has been quoted as saying that navy is not to be on her color card this year. Yet American women love their tailored navy suits, and every American wardrobe must have at least one smart navy dress hanging away for at least a filler for the unusual occasion. That time that comes occasionally into every woman's life when her first thought is: "I have not one thing to wear." Then comes the second thought: "Why there is that navy dress!" and then that grand and glorious feeling that she is all fixed with just the most appropriate gown she could possibly desire.

American designers know all about this. Some of them have had the experience themselves. Others have had the experience of several years of business, and still others have studied the American women and their national taste and the answer is the navy blue dress.

The result is that every display room shows navy dresses. There are taffetas and all the long list of crepe materials, from the heavy crepe to the thinnest of georgettes. However none of them are all navy. Every dress has its dash of color, in some they might almost be called splashes. It may be a piping, it may be a facing, it may be a little corsage at the belt of a bunch of flat applied felt flowers that blossom on the front of the taffeta skirt just above each pocket. One little taffeta followed a fantastic idea and the skirt and part of the blouse were recklessly covered with tiny round disks of color in many colors which gave the impression of its having passed through a confetti shower.

Of course there are taffetas by the dozens everywhere. Not all of them are navy, but many are developed in brown or black, but all have their bright spots where they blaze forth in flamingo, tomato, jade, orange, fuchsia, or some other brilliant color spot. There is a certain crispness about taffeta that makes it a perennial that appears just as regularly as Easter comes around. This year they are made in snug fitting basque effects that have round or square neck lines, short puffy sleeves and short puffy skirts that are made more puffy by rows and festoons of narrow flutings, ruffles or ruffles which are often edged with a picot of colored silk.

More color is introduced in medallions of embroidery, in colors and in the metallic threads. Many of these embroidered designs are imported fabrics that are specially made in dress lengths, others are worked in by the designer according to her own ideas and the cut of the garment.

Soft crepe dresses continue to hang straight from the shoulder, and are self girdled by subtle draping of the material and attain an uneven hem line by means of side panels. Frequently these panels are faced with contrasting color as are the sleeves.

One charming dinner dress made of the new shade Madelon blue is made over an orchid satin slip which shimmers through giving a delightful color effect. The dress is unadorned save for straight double panels at the sides and a self colored ribbon covered cord that places itself as it ties about the waist.

Coat dresses of cloth and silk are both good and promise to be quite a feature in every wardrobe for spring. Of the former one of the most striking is a chemise like slip of dark blue Poirer twill on which has been embroidered an all over design with black ribbon. The sleeves are set in but are the depth of the waist and are patterned after those of a Chinese mandarin and are faced with black ribbon. One of the new silks known as Ripple Wave is used for another interesting coat dress. The long straight lines of the dress are girdled with a soft taffeta sash and the reverses fall back disclosing a vest of real lace on one side of which is a tiny boutonniere of tiny French flowers. The sleeves are three quarter length and full.

Foulards and pussy willow printed in foulard patterns are fascinating this year in color and design and will no doubt be very popular for spring. The soft silk lends itself to gracefully draped skirts, unique sleeve effects and combines nicely with plain colored materials in either silk or wool.

For so many seasons the severe neckline, boat shaped and unadorned has been found a very trying fashion for many. Those who rejoice in the fact that many of the new dresses are shown with collars and vests of real lace, embroidered batiste or organdy. Some of the dresses retain the boat shape neck line but in the majority this is modified, cut deeper at the front, while others break entirely from it and are square in shape.

Sports clothes seem to be out doing themselves this spring, in color, fabrics and design. Perhaps the color combination that stands out is red and white. It appears in suits, hats, and shoes. Dresses, made with white blouses that stretch down into red skirts, and red skirts that reach up on white blouses are worn with capes of red. To go with such a costume are white stockings clocked in red and white oxfords that have red heels and red kid applied in perforated designs.

Yellow and white is another popular combination and probably stands second in the season's scale of color schemes for sports wear, orchid being third.

The dress and cape combination is the smartest version of the sports costume. The dresses made on simple lines trimmed with embroidery with white on color and color on white. The cape is of the color used and often carries out the same trimming design in bands of embroidery.

Sports hats are simple. They may be large or small but for trimming they have a cabochon of beads or a band of ribbon. A few are trimmed with short quilts.

Another outfit appropriate for summer sports wear is the slip-over sweater and the checked or striped skirt. In some costumes the order is reversed and the upper part of the garment has all the color and pattern and the skirt is the plain color that predominates in the slip-on.

In color and design many of these have gotten inspiration from the Orient as well as from some of the primitive American Indian designs and are rich in color.

Knitted dresses which have been trying for seasons to make a place for themselves in American wardrobes seem to have at last forced themselves in and are to be worn a lot this year. They are more attractive in color and design than ever before and are much better suited to the chic lines of the figure.

Many of them are shown with a knitted cape and in the silks are dressy and striking. Suits for street wear are varied in design. Some of those made in dark blues are very close fitting to the waist from which they flare and fall in ripples and points, many of them trimmed with braid tassels and even silk fringes.

Of course there are more simple models which hang in straight tailored simple lines, some of them box shaped others held close to the figure with a narrow belt of leather or material stitched. Following this style are many suits of covert cloth. The skirts of all the suits are short, straight and for the most part untrimmed.

Another version of the suit for spring is fashioned on more informal lines and looks like a sports suit. The skirt is made of flannel in a check or plaid design and the coat of jersey or flannel is plain color belted and pocketed with trimmings and collar of the material to match the skirt.

Tweeds and homespun are also combined in plain and checked material and are seen in sports costumes. Some of them are in the skirt and coat suits and others are the dresses and capes. The dresses are made to wear with blouses, or without and the capes are made so that they can be fastened to the back of the dress and worn wrapped about the figure or falling loose.

White flannel is an interesting item in the clothes for spring and is made into charming dresses trimmed with braid or material in contrasting color. Sport skirts too are made of white flannel to be worn with dark coats or sweaters.

Blouses are made of crepe de chine and georgette in all the high colors with very brilliant designs in embroidery, or contrasts in colored material. They are the medium type that hang over the skirts and the length of the sleeve varies from the very short to wrist length.

'AM OUT OF POLITICS FOREVER', SAYS HAYS
CHICAGO, March 22.—Will H. Hays, former postmaster-general, declared that he is out of politics forever.

"I'm out of politics completely," says Hays, who recently became president of the Moving Picture Producers and Exhibitors of America, Inc.

"I have tried to do my bit and I'm glad to be in an activity where we are all on the same side of the table."

FOOTWEAR TO HAVE FEWER NOVELTIES

BY MILTON B. CONHAIM

As in clothing and some of the accessories in men's apparel there is a standardization shown in the spring and summer display of shoes and Oxfords this year. Simplicity will mark the new arrivals and with this change lower prices will prevail, lower than they have been in several years.

Shoe prices have been among the last to show a decrease, despite the fact that leather costs have been down for the last two years. This has been due to the fact that labor costs haven't been lowered materially—at least not enough to show in the prices—and labor is the greatest item in figuring footwear costs.

Readjustment has been going on steadily for the last eighteen months until today conditions are nearer normal than they have been since 1914. And with this adjustment makers have strained every effort to cut down the high costs. By simplifying the styles they have succeeded in a large measure.

Novelties Get Vacation.

The novelties of other years have been discarded almost entirely, although there will be a few freak lasts and leather for the most daring dressers. The var-colored tops and two-toned effects which had quite a play in other years have been shelved for the time being and unless the fad returns we will see very little of them in the next few years.

In the "freakish" class there still remains a few models of kid shoes that show black lowers with tan or dark brown uppers, but for the most part the one-toned shoes will lead the 1922 parade.

In leather cordovan will be given a vacation, due to the fact that the non-porous condition of that once popular leather has been the cause of much foot trouble. While cordovan is among the most serviceable of leathers and keeps its shape exceptionally well it has been found wanting in other respects. The cordovan shades, however, will be retained and promises to be one of the prevailing shades this summer.

Darker Colors Favored.
The lighter tan shades will not get as much prominence as heretofore, but the dark browns will. Blacks, of course, will have quite a following. Coco-brown, mahogany, russet and Havana brown also will get their share of popularity.

The gun metal finish will be the big thing in shoes, with glossier and vicid kid finishes running second. Among the best lasts the narrow English custom toe and the medium ball shapes toe will be favored by the younger generation, while the wider and more comfortable lasts will continue to be worn by older men, who prefer to sacrifice style to comfort.

Brogues and wing-tipped styles in both shoes and Oxfords, which were quite the rage when our soldiers returned from the war and threatened at one time to become an institution, apparently have outlived their usefulness. That doesn't mean they will be discarded entirely, but it means that their popularity is on the wane. Instead there will be more footwear showing perforations or punched tips.

For early spring spats will continue to be worn by good dressers and the colors will be similar to those of last year when tans, grays, fawns, brown and buck sold in the majority.

For extreme summer canvas shoes and Oxfords will have the call, with the Palm Beach shade coming to the front. "White bucks" will be good for more formal affairs.

MARRIES, MOVES AND STORES VALUABLES; THEY'RE GONE NOW

When Mrs. Paul R. Hughes of Oceanside, married and moved to Long Beach about two years ago she left $1,000 worth of fine linen and cut glass, all packed in a Victrola box, stored at her former home.

Having just moved into a new home, she had made arrangements to send today to Oceanside for the stored linen. But yesterday, she was notified that the entire lot had been stolen from its place of storage the previous night.

Mrs. Hughes asked Sheriff C. E. Jackson, late yesterday, to aid in searching for the miscreant. Among the stolen goods, she said, were ten sets of table linen valued at $40 each.

COSTA MESA

COSTA MESA, March 22.—Miss Marie Purteman was the "victim" of a surprise party planned by her mother last Saturday evening. Marie's teacher, together with a number of school friends called at her home quite unexpectedly to the young miss, to spend the evening in playing games, pulling taffy and listening to music and conversation over the radio which Marie's brother had installed. After having enjoyed themselves with the above amusements for some time refreshments of cake, cocoa and candy were served.

Those present to enjoy the party were:

Miss Kerfoot, Dick Bradley, Ruth Bradley, Nina Brush, Esther Bailey, Minna Schraep, Harriet Baker, Emma Rehme, Elmer Rehme, Marie Purteman and Warren Purteman.

H. B. Woodrough and C. A. Wilkinson were attending the meeting of the regional farm bureau at San Bernardino last Saturday.

Edwin Peers, of Lamanda Park, visited with his sister, Mrs. E. M. Bradley, last Thursday evening.

Mr. Brush has completed the plumbing at the new house of H. Halladay and the builders will now soon have the house ready for occupancy.

Mrs. Woodrough was a dinner guest at the home of C. A. Wilkinson Saturday evening.

Improvement is the order of the day on the Mesa. Almost every resident is making some kind of needed and hence helpful improvement on his ranch, thus indicating a prosperous and progressive spirit which is so necessary to the upbuilding of any community.

H. Halladay and family have returned to their home at Twenty-first street and Tustin avenue, after having spent two weeks at the beach at East Newport.

S. G. Newman, of Santa Ana, was on the Mesa last Saturday looking after his five-acre apple ranch.

There was a large attendance at the Friday afternoon club, which met with Mrs. Woodrough. Tea was served and a small sum was made which was added to the fund for the new club house. Five new members were admitted to the club.

The club will soon have so large a membership that its influence will be felt and realized as a power for good in the community, it is declared.

ACCUSED IN LARGENY CASE FREE ON BOND

J. W. O'Day, charged with grand larceny in connection with the alleged theft of oil drilling equipment valued at $7,500 from the well of the Sunrise Consolidated Oil company, near El Toro, was at liberty today under $2,000 cash bail.

William Crandall and Mrs. Jennie Hill posted the bail money late yesterday with Justice J. B. Cox.

O'Day is accused jointly with Gus Holmes of South Pasadena, Walter Brown, Paul Dressell and E. A. Worden, all of whom have been arrested and released on bail. The three latter were taken into custody at Portland, after they had shipped the equipment from El Toro to Salem, Oregon.

From this arrest, the trail led back to Holmes, who had given the Portland men a bill of sale for the property. Another bill of sale from O'Day to Holmes included the former in the charge.

O'Day replied to the accusation with the claim that he owned the property on which the well is located, and that the well equipment reverted to his ownership because terms of a contract he claimed to have entered into with the oil company were not, he asserted, carried out.

E. Conterno, official of the oil company, also claims ownership to the property, which was formerly government land, and asserts that he had prior title. Conterno is prosecuting witness in the case against O'Day, Holmes and the others.

Worden and Brown arrived in this city late yesterday and appeared before Justice J. B. Cox, who set their preliminary examination for May 2 at 2 p. m. and fixed bail at $500 each. Both posted that amount. Dressell is still in the North. Worden and Brown were accompanied into court with their attorney, J. P. Sprout, of Los Angeles.

Perhaps the man who fell from a seventh-story window and lived fell inside.

OIL COMPANY OMTS QUARTERLY DIVIDEND

NEW YORK, March 22.—Directors of the Tidewater Oil company, formerly affiliated with the Standard Oil company, decided that "by reason of conditions in the oil trade, the present is an inopportune time to determine the dividend policy of the company for the year and hence will not declare a quarterly dividend, payable on March 31, as has been the custom in recent years." The annual statement shows an operating loss for the year of $2,020,000.

HOLD L. A. TRIO IN ALLEGED ARMY PLOT

(United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, March 22.—With three Los Angeles business men already under arrest in connection with the alleged million dollar Camp Kearney army goods swindle, department of justice operatives were awaiting the arrival of a fourth man here today from San Francisco.

Those under arrest: Bradford Benjamin Sugarman, proprietor of a big dry goods store. Joseph Greenberg, said to be interested with Sugarman. Dan Greenberg, proprietor of an army goods store.

They are at liberty under bond of $10,000 each. The fourth man, said to be on his way here from San Francisco to surrender himself, is Ike Greenberg, said to be a partner of Dan Greenberg.

The men are charged in a federal warrant with conspiracy to defraud the United States government, by "framing" an auction sale of army goods at Camp Kearney.

PLAN FIGHT TO BRING REALTY MEET TO S. A.

That at least five members of the Santa Ana Realty board will attend the meeting of the directors of the California Real Estate association at Long Beach Friday and about twelve the gathering in Los Angeles Saturday morning, was the estimate made today by J. C. Wallace, secretary.

From a Santa Ana standpoint the Saturday meeting is considered extremely important as the directors will determine whether this city shall be selected as the next place for the state real estate convention to be held in December.

Santa Ana realtors are preparing to wage a determined battle at the directors' meeting, looking toward the selection of this city as the scene of the convention.

WOMAN IS SCALPED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

LOS ANGELES, March 22.—Miss Lena Green suffered a fractured skull and was practically scalped as the result of a terrific auto smash in which three people were injured on West Washington street here today.

Miss Green will die, the receiving hospital reported.

Sam Epstein, 29, police officer of Venice, is held responsible for the accident. Wilshire station police said he was driving on the wrong side of the street, exceeding the speed limit, and that he had been drinking.

Epstein suffered a broken leg, broken arm, three broken ribs and was badly bruised.

WILL DISCLOSE 'Y' BUILDING SITE PLANS

With invitations issued to fifty men and the public generally invited to be present, it was anticipated today that a large number of men interested in the erection of a Y. M. C. A. building in Santa Ana would be present at the meeting to be held at the First Presbyterian church tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of deciding whether it is advisable to attempt the project at this time.

J. A. Cranston, chairman of the County Y. M. C. A. committee, stated today that a number of proposed sites have been submitted, and that the locations would be disclosed tomorrow night. Col. S. H. Finley is chairman of the committee on sites.

Cranston will call the meeting to order and will ask the appointment of a chairman for the evening. A committee of fifty men has been selected for the committee work in connection with the movement and all are expected to be present.

Upon their opinion and that of others who may attend the mass meeting will depend whether the plans will now be carried out.

Harry Hill, secretary of the state Y. M. C. A., and others will be present and addresses will be made on the value of such a building in the boy work of the city.

WOMAN CHIROPRACTOR TO FACE TRIAL HERE IN NON-LICENSE CASE

Dr. Vanetta Henderson, woman chiropractor, of Fullerton, is scheduled to have a delayed trial tomorrow in Superior Judge Z. B. West's court, on a charge of practicing without a license from the state board of medical examiners.

The trial was originally scheduled last week but because of Dr. Henderson's illness was postponed. It is understood that she has recovered and will be able to appear in court tomorrow.

Dr. Henderson will be defended at the trial by Attorney Griffith Jones, Los Angeles, counsel for the chiropractors' association. The prosecution will probably be conducted by H. J. Castellaw, representative of the state board of medical examiners. Deputy District Attorney C. N. Mozley, who has heretofore assisted in prosecuting chiropractors tried for the same alleged offense, is ill.

PROGRAM FIXED FOR FANNING RECITAL

The program that Cecil Fanning, med. baritone, is to give next Monday at 11 a. m. at the high school auditorium for pupils of the school and the general public, was announced today.

The program will consist of four groups, the first an aria from "Richard the Lion Hearted" by Gretry, of the date of 1784.

The second group will offer Oliver Wendell Holmes's "The Last Leaf" with musical setting by Sidney Homer; "Left" by Santa Ana's pianist-composer, Clarence Gustlin, with the words by Damon Runyon; and Liza Lehman's setting for "The Mad Dog" from "The Vicar of Wakefield."

The third group will be an offering of folk songs, opening with the old English "Meet Me By Moonlight, Alone." Two French folk songs will follow, "Le Petit Bois d'Amour" and "Le Cycle du Vin" with the old English "Oh! John, No!" ending the group.

The final number will be an old Scotch ballad by Archibald Douglas with music by Lowe.

SUIT OF WOMAN GIVEN SUNRISE HEARING HOUR

Another of the "sunrise" court sessions adopted by Justice J. B. Cox in hearing "small claims" court cases is scheduled for 7 a. m. April 1 when the case of Blanche Galentine against Adam Le Page comes before the court. The plaintiff alleges that Le Page owes her $30 but does not state how the alleged debt was incurred.

Justice Cox instituted the early hearing plan for what he calls his "poor man's court" when a local woman recently filed a complaint against her daughter to collect a $15 board bill.

At that time the magistrate threatened to set the trial for 5 a. m. but finally "modified" the hour to 7 o'clock. He frankly expresses opposition to the small claims court, characterizing it as the means of permitting individuals to use the county as a collection agency. Litigants in the small claims court do not employ attorneys but present their own cases.

PROPOSE REVISION OF STATE'S CITRUS LAWS

REDLANDS, March 22.—Citrus fruit growers and packers of the Redlands and Riverside districts at a meeting recently held here, favored a conference, to be held at the close of the navel orange shipping season, with the citrus interests of the state, such conference to be held under the auspices of the Citrus Protective league, with a view of working out a revision of the California laws as affecting the shipment of citrus fruits following a cold snap. This conference will probably be held in June.

The conference here at which such a decision was reached was presided over by G. H. Hecke, state director of agriculture.

Hecke said that he had been impelled to hold the meetings because of many communications sent him indicating that a condition exists which should be remedied before another packing season. He stated that he realizes the seriousness of the condition, and hopes to correct it for the future by meeting the packers and growers face to face, first in district meetings and then in a general conference. He asked for opinions from the packers and growers.

To begin with, the asserted cough of warning didn't "work."

Furthermore—

"I'll see you and raise it two."

"I'll be the policeman, what have you?"

"Three bullets."

Asserted conversation of that and a like order today had Cecil Moon, Roy Fowler, V. J. Frye and H. K. Frye looking for $25 each which must be paid to City Recorder W. F. Headman within a week.

For City Marshal Sam Jernigan and Officer R. Elliott understood the language of "raise," "see you" and "call" and they broke up an alleged poker game at a local cafe yesterday in which it was asserted Moon, Fowler and the Frye brothers were participating.

According to Jernigan, the game was going full blast and there was a pot of several dollars on the table when the officers "called."

Police Officers Sid Smithwick and C. L. Neuschwanger uncovered as asserted evidence Monday evening that the gambling was going on after a friend of the alleged gamblers had vainly attempted, it was said, to warn them by means of a severe attack of coughing as the officers approached.

ESCAPES WITH BRUISES.

C. Yeoman and R. A. Volheim, of Los Angeles, had returned to their homes today after an accident in which a Ford coupe upset near La Habra yesterday, pinning Volheim underneath. Both men escaped with nothing more serious than slight bruises and cuts. The top of the coupe was crushed. The mishap took place when they failed to negotiate the turn off of the state highway at a point where it is closed, north of La Habra.

Debt to Sims

Friends of Rear Admiral Sims, desirous of seeing his services to the nation properly recognized, appear to have been sounding out the sentiment of the country with a view to starting a campaign to have him raised to the rank of admiral.

According to a confidential letter written by a man investigating the matter and made public recently, there is a feeling in different sections of the country that the officer who directed our naval operations in European waters is entitled to the same honors as were accorded to the officer who commanded our armies.

Admiral Sims served the nation with ability and unusual distinction. His career has been marked by a fearlessness which, while it has on occasions made him enemies, has at the same time won him many friends, because he dared to speak up where others maintained a fearful silence. His indiscretions have frequently been of service to the country.

But it is for what he has done, even more than for what he dared to say, that he is entitled to recognition. He showed from the beginning an unusually clear grasp of the problems involved. His faith in the value of the convoy system made possible the transportation of millions of soldiers with a practically negligible casualty list. His belief in the possibilities of depth charges in hunting U-boats made possible the development of a system of offense against the submarine that eventually crippled the weapon. Finally, his appreciation of the fact that by co-operation with the British fleet the American navy could do the most effective work against the Germans established a unity of action on the sea comparable to the unity of action on land after Foch was made commander-in-chief of the allied armies.

These are concrete achievements which his enemies would minimize for no better apparent reason than that he was born in Canada. Whatever the outcome of the activities in his behalf, the admiral knows that his work is widely appreciated throughout the country. His admirers, who far outnumber his opponents, have not ceased to regret that he was not made an admiral at the time that Pershing received the rank of general.—New York Times.

FATHERS, SONS HOLD MEETING AT CHURCH

The importance and value of father and son becoming chums was stressed last night by R. R. Miller, county probation officer, at the regular monthly meeting of the Men's Brotherhood at the Spurgeon Memorial church. It was a father and son's meeting and sixty were present. Dinner was served by the ladies of the church.

The Rev. George Clark, of Norwalk, former pastor of the church here, was present and delivered a brief address on the benefits that would follow closer relationship of father and son as the latter approaches his majority.

Sam Jernigan, city marshal, declared that many mothers and fathers become careless in looking after their children, asserting that it is not an infrequent occurrence at his office to have a lost child in charge for two or three hours before the mother or father discovers the child is missing.

Selections by the Brotherhood's sextette were rendered during the evening.

Wider Highways

Of 6,500 miles of completed Federal-aid road for which statistics have been collected by the Bureau of Public Roads, United States Department of Agriculture, one-half has been constructed of 16 and 18 foot width, 25 per cent of a greater width, and 25 per cent of a less width. As would be expected the wider roads have been constructed largely in the more populous states, although some of the less populous states are building wider roads for the main highways. There is a general tendency, it is said, to build wider roads to meet the needs of the constantly increasing traffic, as shown by the 25 per cent of the mileage over 15 feet in width, 7 per cent being 24 feet or wider.

Wheat Leads

Cotton no longer is king among exported American agricultural products. Exports of wheat and wheat flour, last year, reached the highest figure ever attained by that cereal, and exceeded the value of cotton exports. Statistical figures, usually, are anything but thrilling. But the figures showing the value of the leading agricultural exports from this country, last year, are so vast as to cause a thrill of pride and gratification to all loyal Americans. For example, of wheat and wheat flour, exports totaled $551,000,000; cotton exports amounted to $534,000,000—a close second to wheat and flour; pork and pork products, including lard, amounted to $246,000,000; leaf tobacco, $205,000,000; corn and corn meal, $97,000,000; sugar, $49,000,000; rye, $44,000,000; condensed and evaporated milk, $38,000,000; cottonseed oil, $24,000,000; rice, $21,000,000, and barley $21,000,000.

These figures, instead of being dry and uninteresting, are of romantic interest. They denote, in eloquent terms, the majestic power and importance of the American farm. They speak of millions of happy people in far-away lands made comfortable and glad, nourishingly fed and warmly clad, from products of the American farm. These figures speak for an industry that is above all other industries in this or any other land, in the value of the riches it annually produces—the American farming industry.—Pasadena Star-News.

Test Materials

An experiment to determine just how hard rock or gravel must be in order to be satisfactory for use in building concrete roads is being carried on by the Bureau of Public Roads at the Arlington Experimental Farms of the United States Department of Agriculture. About 60 sections of experimental road are being constructed, in which practically every variety of stone, gravel, and sand will be used. These sections will then be traversed over thousands of times by a machine automatically operated and which has the same effect on the pavement as a motor truck. This will continue until the wearing properties of all the sections are determined. The bureau believes that the results of these tests will show that many local materials heretofore deemed unsuitable may be used safely in building concrete roads, thereby saving the cost of importing stone, gravel, or sand from a distance.

Europe must choose between American leadership and a receivership.

LA HABRA PLANS TO ENTERTAIN GOVERNOR

LA HABRA, March 22.—Although the Brotherhood of the La Habra Community church is comparatively a new organization, it is a factor in the life of the valley because of the officers' ability to attract well-known speakers.

William D. Stephens, governor of California, is to be the guest of honor at the dinner Tuesday evening, April 11. This will be the first time that an organization in an unincorporated district of Northern Orange county, will have entertained a governor, it was said. Other officials will be invited to be present and the evening as planned will be notable.

Because of Gov. Stephens being present the occasion will be made a town event and all residents who are sufficiently fortunate to secure tickets will be allowed to attend. It is also planned to make this a ladies' night.

The dinner will be served in the social hall of the church at 6:30 o'clock with a circle of the Ladies' Aid society acting as hostesses.

DEMAND FOR LOBSTER STIRS FISHING FLEET

SAN DIEGO, March 22.—Lobster pots along the waterfront have been boiling merrily the last 48 hours. Lobster palaces upstate have been sending in rush orders for San Diego crustaceans to form a piece de resistance at "flapper" supper parties. As a result lobster schooners plying to the lower coast are operating on express schedule.

Thirty thousands pounds of lobsters were dumped on San Diego wharves Wednesday and yesterday from the holds of the schooners St. Agnes, M. K. 2 and the Invincible. The M. K. also brought, in addition to 13,000 pounds of the shellfish, four tons of dried abalone meat for exportation to Japan.

IOWA PUBLISHER COMES TO S. A. TO RESIDE

Preliminary to coming to Santa Ana to make his home permanently, C. F. Skirvin of Keokuk, Ia., arrived in Santa Ana yesterday. He was accompanied by his son, Junior. They are to be here for two weeks, and in June are to return with Mrs. Skirvin, to stay here.

"This is my ninth trip to Santa Ana in sixteen years," said Skirvin. "and I am more delighted with Santa Ana every time I set foot in it. How Santa Ana is growing! Before long Santa Ana will be a city of 50,000."

Skirvin sold his newspaper at Keokuk last year, and but for the illness of Mrs. Skirvin would have been established here some months ago.

"Things are picking up a bit in the Middle West, but slowly," said Skirvin. "Prices of wheat and live stock going up help somewhat and lend optimism to the situation. Of course, we are expecting no great improvement until the new crops are raised and sold."

S. A. MISSIONARY FEDERATION IN ANNUAL MEET

Reports of officers in the Federated Missionary societies, of Santa Ana, which held their tenth annual meeting in the First Christian church today, indicated a "satisfying" prosperity.

About $100 remains in the treasury, after donations had been made to the various causes supported by the organizations, the report of Mrs. L. H. Humphrey, treasurer, showed. The secretary, Mrs. W. H. Stevenson, read the minutes of the last meeting, which were approved. Mrs. E. G. Warner read a report for the literary society.

After the reading of the records, the president, Mrs. G. N. Greer, announced the appointments of committees, as follows:

WOMAN'S ARREST ECHO IN 'DRY' AGENT QUIZ

The arrest of Mrs. Winnifred Roberts, formerly of Balboa and now of Compton, in this city last June on a charge of being an inmate of a house of questionable repute and her subsequent threat to sue the city for $50,000, was recalled today with announcement that she had been subpoenaed to give testimony before United States Commissioner Stephen A. Long in Los Angeles in the prosecution of W. S. Jeffreys and A. W. Metz on charges of impersonating government officers by posing as members of a "dry squad" engaged in cleaning up Southern California.

Jeffreys was the detective employed by the city council to clean up Santa Ana and among the arrests was that of Mrs. Roberts. Mrs. Roberts was rushed into the city recorder's office here following her arrest between 9 and 10 p. m., and she asserted that she pleaded guilty on advice of Jeffreys, who told her that it would eliminate possibility of publicity. Mrs. Roberts declared that Jeffreys himself used a fictitious name for her in filing the complaint, giving her name as "Cecil Bruner." Following her plea of guilty she paid a fine of $50. Later, denying that she was guilty of the offense to which she had pleaded guilty, she asked for a rehearing of her case. It was granted and at the retrial she was completely exonerated.

Jeffreys presented a demand and was paid $989.32 for his services and expenses during the campaign.

The hearing in Los Angeles was started yesterday, when the investigators covered operations of the two men at Fullerton and Long Beach. Fines collected at Fullerton totaled $2260 and Jeffreys, under the name of G. W. Nevins, was paid $1076.96 for his services and expenses.

Dr. R. B. Graves, Dr. D. C. Cowles and J. E. Doty, the latter a druggist, all of Fullerton, were witnesses against Jeffreys and Mrs. Metz. The three men were arrested in Fullerton during a drive conducted by the detective. Each paid a fine. Dr. Graves paid a fine of $300 for issuing a prescription for whisky to Jeffreys. Dr. Graves testified that Jeffreys came to him and said he was ill and insisted on a prescription for whisky. He declared also that Jeffreys represented himself as a federal officer.

Dr. Cowles was assessed the same amount on the same charge. He also

MYSTERY AUTO DRIVER RUNS DOWN, INJURES WOMAN AT ANAHEIM

ANAHEIM, March 22.—Mrs. Nora Crowley, of Ballou Court, West Center street, was run down by an automobile, driven by an unknown man, late yesterday afternoon, and severely cut about the head and face. She was picked up and taken to the Anaheim sanitarium by N. F. Ballou, of Anaheim. After a thorough examination it was found necessary to take several stitches in the head wounds.

It is reported Mrs. Crowley started to cross the street at Center and Los Angeles streets, stopped momentarily, and then resumed her progress across the street, confusing the driver of the automobile which struck her.

The name of the driver was not ascertained, but it is understood he is a Los Angeles man.

TO OPEN CLASS IN CHARACTER ANALYSIS

Monday night in the meeting room of the Meyer Hotel, Mr. Drum gave a complete and thorough explanation of his work before an audience of one hundred representative business men of this city.

At this meeting Drum went into the minutest detail to show how he arrives at his deductions, to prove that his work is strictly scientific and that through the simplicity of the work any normal man or woman can master the science of character reading.

Drum stated that his greatest battle was to secure the opportunity to present his work to the people, and that whenever that opportunity was extended it was no trouble to convince the big thinking man or woman of the genuineness of his work and its value in the everyday business world, social and home life, and especially in the handling of the children in the home, where they are so often misunderstood by the parents themselves.

Drum states that it seems almost impossible that in eight lecture lessons one can be taught the art, and that the only way he can assure the people that the work is genuine and that he is sincere is to positively agree to refund the entire charge, if he fails in his endeavor, and this he is more than willing to do.

Over fifty business men and executives have already signed applications and enrolled in the class, which will start tonight at 8 p. m. at the Meyer Hotel. A number of others have signified their intention of joining the class, and Drum states that after tonight it will be impossible to consider any further applications; but he does extend a cordial invitation to any and all interested in joining the class to meet and enroll prior to the beginning of the first lesson at 8 p. m. tonight.

To show the absolute genuineness of the work Drum states that after a thorough investigation of the benefits to be derived and hearing his explanation in detail such organizations as O. R. Haan, Cadillac dealer; Brown and Bowles, Studier Agency; Edgar and Hays, Oakland Agency; Townsend and Medbury, Hudson and Essex Agency; Orange County Iglon Co. and Willard Battery Distributors, have enrolled their salesmen and executives in the course, in addition to which, men engaged in other lines of business have signed applications and will take the course.

Drum has invited all the wives of all members of the class to be his guests at all the meetings, and he states this is an innovation in his work, but he feels he can accomplish a great good in this regard in the handling of child life and affairs of the home, and that if this proves successful in Santa Ana, he will continue this arrangement in all his future work.

MOB TEARS DOWN FLAG AS KING IS CROWNED

CAIRO, Egypt, March 22.—There were many demonstrations today during a review of troops by the king. Mobs pulled down flags and stoned the palace guards.

In endeavoring to break the police cordon guarding his majesty, the commandant of police ordered the officers to fire on the mob. Three casualties resulted. Units of cavalry are patrolling the streets of the city tonight to maintain order.

alleged that Jeffreys insisted on a prescription for whisky and that the detective asserted he was a federal officer.

Doty offered in evidence a check for $500 which he had issued in payment of the fine levied on him for illegal sale of liquor.

Witnesses from Long Beach, including an officer, testified that Jeffreys posed as a federal officer.

U. S. TAX REFUND IS NEAR UNDER COURT RULING

Rebate by the government of many thousands of dollars collected in California for income and inheritance taxes is expected to follow the decision of the United States supreme court in the California tax case of Blum against Wardell, according to word received here today. It is expected that hundreds of taxpayers will be relieved of heavy tax burdens in the future.

The decision, in effect, is recognition of a wife's vested right in the community property and income of her husband. It is inferred under the ruling that in the matter of making income returns, separate returns should be made by husband and wife. In this event the surtax would be eliminated from a return showing $5000 or more net income annually, up to a certain limit.

A man returning in 1921 a net income of $40,000, and paying the tax upon the amount individually, would by splitting the income with his wife, each filing individual returns.

It is inferred that those who in the past have paid such taxes may make amended returns, with the government liable for a refund of the sums overpaid. The decision benefits only those whose incomes are in excess of $5000 net annually.

The Blum-Wardell case, upon which the ruling was handed down, was the result of the government under the federal estate tax law levying on the entire estate of James B. Blum, including the widow's interest in the community property. A tax of approximately $2,000,000 was collected and Mrs. Blum brought suit to recover the tax paid on her share of the community property. The United States district court in 1920 decided in favor of the widow, holding that her interest in the community property of her husband was a "vested" interest the moment the property was acquired, and, as a vested interest, did not pass to her as an inheritance, and was not liable for the inheritance tax. That decision has been affirmed by the United States circuit court and finally by the United States supreme court.

With interpretation of the decision that the wife has a vested right in community property, it follows in the opinion of many that the same situation obtains with reference to the filing and taxation of incomes.

Every man whose income prior to 1921 made him liable to the higher rates is particularly affected, provided he is married. Take the case of a man whose income was $3000 net, and who has a wife and two children. His exemptions bring his taxable income to $2500. On the first $4000 he pays a 4 per cent tax of $160. On the remaining $1200 he pays an 8 per cent tax of $96. His surtax figures $50. Total, under the individual return, $306.

Suppose the same man divided his $3000 income with his wife, each making a separate return, on $4000. The man's exemptions of $2800 would leave $1200 taxable income, which at 4 per cent would cost him $48.

ORANGE COUNTY DAIRYMEN BUY EIGHT HEAD OF CATTLE

Purebred Jerseys Added to Five Herds in Auction Sale at Clearwater

BRANCHING OUT NOTED

Declare Purchases Made as Result of Campaign by Three Associations

That Orange county dairymen are recognizing the benefits of purebred stock, is indicated in the fact that at a recent sale in Los Angeles county, near Clearwater, five dairymen from this section purchased eight head of registered cattle.

"This is a direct result of an educational campaign which has been conducted in conjunction by the extension service, the farm bureau, and the cow-testing association," declared Assistant Farm Advisor Floyd Scott, who made the trip with the men when they purchased the stock. "Milk tests have shown the benefits of high class cattle, which the dairymen have been quick to realize."

At the sale attended by the Orange county men, only purebred Jersey cows were sold, and when a final check was made, it was found that they had purchased eight out of twenty animals sold.

Long Step Forward
"Inasmuch as Jersey cattle are much in demand," Scott said, "the importation of these purebred, tuberculin-tested animals, with butterfat production records back of their sires and dams, is a long step toward the permanent improvement of dairy stock in the entire county."

H. L. Wakeham bought a purebred Jersey bull calf, to add to his herd, which is already producing well, it is said. Mike Babylon out-bid several contestants for a fine Jersey heifer. Babylon says that although he is primarily a Holstein breeder, in which class he has several prize winners, he took this method of branching out by adding to his foundation stock both of Jerseys and Holsteins. J. T. Raitt attended the sale, but since he needed Holstein stock to add to his mixed herd he purchased a three months' old purebred Holstein calf, with records extending back several generations.

Plavan Buys Heifer
F. D. Plavan added to his purebred Jersey herd by the purchase of a heifer.

F. H. Finney was perhaps the heaviest buyer of the sale. He obtained five Jerseys, including cows and heifers.

"Finney is a Holstein man," Scott said, "but by bringing in this shipment of Jerseys he is starting a herd that is a credit to any man's judgment, and an asset to the county."

Scott states that this is but the beginning of the movement which should make Orange county notable in dairy breeding circles.

Fertilizer Use, Effects to Be Tested On 10-Acre Citrus Groves

Definite information on the use and effect of fertilizers in citrus groves is wanted by the Agricultural Extension Service, and the service in Los Angeles county has outlined a project, for experiments covering this subject. The farm adviser is asking growers who wish to co-operate in these experiments to get in touch with him.

Several ten-acre groves will be selected for the experiments, which are to extend over a period of three years. Certain of the materials will be furnished free by manufacturers, but others will have to be purchased. The materials to be tested are, calcium carbonate, 100 pounds per tree; gypsum, 20 pounds per tree; kainite, 32 pounds per tree; potassium sulphate and potassium chloride, each 8 pounds per tree; sulphur, ammonium sulphate and super-phosphate, each 5 pounds per tree; nitrate of soda and potassium nitrate, each 5 pounds per tree; cottonseed meal, 16 pounds per tree; rock phosphate, 3 pounds per tree; high grade manure, 100 pounds per tree; low grade manure, 200 pounds per tree; bean straw, 66 pounds per tree; high grade tankage, 12 pounds per tree; dried blood, 8 pounds per tree.

WOMAN SLIGHTLY HURT IN AUTO CRASH HERE

A woman named Mrs. Sauerman in a report on file today at police headquarters, was said to have been slightly hurt in an automobile collision at Sixth and Main streets last yesterday. The accident was reported by Mrs. O. H. Maddox, Santa Ana, driver of one of the cars.

A collision near the gas plant on East First street between cars driven by L. A. Ferguson, 1014 West Chestnut street, and H. A. Lask, of Pasadena, was also reported. This collision took place when Ferguson's car, traveling along First street, blew out a tire and swerved from its course as Lask was attempting to turn into the gas plant driveway.

DAIRYING COSTS RECORDS KEPT IN COUNTY

Twenty Orange county dairymen are making monthly reports to Cow Tester J. B. Bichan, in connection with the plan outlined by the farm management department of the University of California.

These men first submitted to an inventory of their dairies, and are now entered in competition for reports to be rendered to the state department.

It was through the efforts of Assistant Farm Advisor Floyd Scott that these men were induced to enter into the plans to render the reports. "In answer to the oft-repeated question, 'What is the object of the work?'" R. D. Robson, dairyman of Davis, and one of the members of the committee which obtained the legislative appropriation for the work, writes:

"In years past, the dairymen have been accused of demanding exorbitant prices for their products. They have been accused of getting wealthy

COUNTY FAIR TO ATTRACT MANY EXHIBITORS

Ten Farm Centers Signify Desire to Participate in Annual Event

Ten or more Orange county farm centers will contest at the Huntington Beach fair this year for the community prize and cup, according to H. E. Wahlberg, farm advisor. The agricultural committee, of which Murray Horne is chairman, will have the fair catalogue ready for distribution in June, it was announced today.

At a recent conference of farm center committees at Buena Park, it was decided that every center, as well as every farmer in the county, should be urged to anticipate their exhibits at the fair and prepare at this time to plant vegetables and other field and garden crops with this end in view.

Fruit growers are urged by the committees to watch their fruits and make selection for the horticultural exhibit.

One grower has declared that he will have a stalk of corn that he made "Jack and the Beanstalk" sit up and take notice. Growers of grain at Capistrano and El Toro will enter the show this year for the first time, and have promised to make a big display of such products.

Wahlberg says that provision will be made later in the season for cold storing of fruits and other exhibits that are out of season at the period of the fair.

CALL EX-MAYOR TO STAND IN ROBBERY

Accused of stealing $4,000 worth of oil well equipment from the Consolidated Oil company's property in the Santa Ana canyon, one and one-half miles north of Olive, Dennis Weaver and C. R. Hickey were scheduled to receive their preliminary examination on a charge of grand larceny before Justice J. B. Cox at 2 p. m. today.

Former Mayor C. H. Windham, of Long Beach, who is president of the oil company and chief witness against Weaver and Hickey, was expected here this afternoon to testify against them.

It is claimed that Weaver, who had charge of drilling operations for an oil company operating in the Huntington Beach field, hired Hickey to drive a truck and aid him in hauling the equipment from the Olive well to Huntington Beach.

Under Sheriff E. E. French, investigating the alleged theft, claims to have located a portion of the equipment at the Huntington Beach well.

'Milk Fairies' Pageant to Be Feature of Riverside Dairy Meet

RIVERSIDE, March 22.—County Dairy day, to be held Saturday, April 8, promises something unique in instruction and entertainment. The educational possibilities of such a program are unlimited, and the progressive committee directly in charge is alive and awake to all these opportunities.

The committee on arrangements is composed of J. E. Wherrell, past president of the Southern California Fair association, and a prominent Jersey breeder, who is chairman; S. F. Kennedy, manager of the Riverside Dairy company; A. J. Stadler, Holstein breeder; George W. Thomas, vice-president of the Southern California Live Stock Breeders' association, all of Riverside, and R. N. Clapp, of Nuevo. The Riverside County Associated Chambers of Commerce at a recent meeting named this committee.

The program will feature a parade of dairy cattle, a "milk fairies" pageant by the children of Longfellow school, a livestock exhibition, a pure-bred show, and an exhibit showing all the phases of the production of milk and dairy products and equipment.

To help stimulate interest, essay and poster contests having to do with extolling the virtues of milk are being conducted in the county and city schools during March. Liberal prizes are offered in these contests.

SEEK MEXICAN AFTER 2 CARS COLLIDE HERE

Elias Sevilla, 416 West Fourth street, who fled from Ford car after a collision with another machine Monday, has disappeared, it was reported today by the local police, who expect to file a felony charge against the Mexican as soon as he can be found.

It is alleged that Sevilla was intoxicated at the time of the collision with L. E. Phillips, of Anaheim, at Fourth and French streets Monday evening. Phillips claimed that Sevilla was driving on the wrong side of the street.

A complaint charging the Mexican with driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, will be filed when Sevilla is apprehended. City Marshal Sam Jernigan said today.

POULTRYMEN OF COUNTY PLAN NEW MOVES

Orange county poultrymen are to receive the benefits of the assistance of the farm bureau and the university extension services in the promotion of their work during the coming months.

Two committees, appointed at a recent meeting of representative poultrymen, have been at work, and have drawn up projects which will be carried out with the assistance of Assistant Farm Advisor Floyd Scott and Secretary-Manager R. D. Flaherty.

Hatch Chairman.
W. S. Hatch, of Tustin, is chairman of the committee working on extension projects.

He has submitted the following projects to be undertaken: "The brooding of chicks, which includes the keeping of records on birds by five poultrymen. Reports are to be given publicly and data will be used to determine the cost of production."

"Disease control, including the study of Coccidiosis and successful methods of control recommended by the University of California, and distribution and general publicity on method of control of worms in chickens."

"Culling of poultry flocks to demonstrate systematic culling methods. Six flocks in as many parts of county will be used for this work."

"Poultry clubs will be established for young folk to stimulate an interest in the poultry industry and demonstrate university methods of care, feed and management."

Visit Poultry Plants.
"County tour to visit poultry plants and acquaint residents of the county with different types of houses, size and breeds of flocks, methods of care and feeding and important phases of poultry raising, and also a tour of poultrymen to Southern California farm bureau egg laying contest at Pomona."

A. E. Block of Costa Mesa is chairman of the committee working on farm bureau projects and particularly the marketing of eggs and poultry. The report of this committee emphasizes the importance of establishing a closer relationship between the farm bureau and reliable co-operative marketing agencies, and a careful investigation of the operation of marketing organizations.

LINDSAY PASTOR RESIGNS.
LINDSAY, March 22.—The Rev. Roy Samee, pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene of Lindsay, has presented his resignation to become effective any time before June 4, he having accepted a call to a Nazarene church in Stockton. During the four years of his pastorate here the membership has trebled and the congregation has built one of the most attractive church buildings in this part of the valley. Samee also has taken an active part in community welfare work.

PRODUCE 50,000 CHICKS HERE EACH WEEK

Hatcheries in Orange County Turning Out Huge Army for Poultry Farms

Chicks are pouring forth from Orange county hatcheries at a rate of 50,000 weekly, according to a conservative estimate. The season's run will probably exceed 750,000 when the final count is taken. These include locally hatched and imported chicks.

"Few persons realize the large number of poultry plants in Orange county," Assistant Farm Advisor Floyd Scott stated, "and it is safe to say there are fewer who can appreciate the large army of baby chicks that will be turned loose before June 1. Thousands of these are going into new quarters this year and will probably be handled by beginners in the poultry business. The number of pullets next fall will therefore depend very largely upon the care of the chicks the first few weeks of the brooding period."

Considerable emphasis is placed by poultry experts on correct housing. As one man expressed it, "there are brooder houses, and just houses for brooding chicks." They are both useful, but for the beginner a good house in which he may brood his chicks is essential.

"A house cannot brood chicks alone, any more than brooder stoves and hoovers proved successful," Scott says. "But if the house conforms to the requirements, the store must likewise conform to requirements or few chicks will live to produce eggs in December. Feeding and care are quite as important as the mechanical end."

The number of eggs is well established in the average flock. As our marketing problems increase, let us pay more attention to the size and color of the product. Select eggs for incubation of the true color characteristics of our breed. Considering the future of our industry, we make a mistake by incubating any egg that will not weigh the required two ounces. Size and color of the eggs are breeding problems and not a matter of luck."

The feeder's ability to handle poultry in such a way that the hens will turn their feed into eggs, rather than fat, determines the success of the poultryman.

Make the nest boxes of ample size, but not too deep. The hens, if large in size, will break the eggs in getting into the nest if it be too deep.

Will the pullets be laying next fall when the price of eggs is highest? A definite hatching plan now and provision for carrying out the schedule will help toward that end.

Scabby or scaly legs can be cured by applying a mixture of lard and kerosene twice a week for a month. Rub well in among the scales.

Watch out for the rainy day. More poultry ailments are developed during these periods than at all other times together. And not only that, but it is believed diseased layers hand down to chicks hatched from their eggs certain troubles developed by neglect during the wet season.

It will soon be the season for gape worms, and all yards not sown to green feed should be spaded or plowed up. If the worms are thick scatter lime about the yard before plowing. A few drops of carbolic acid in the drinking water of the chicks will help to dislodge the worms from their throats.

To Overcome a Difficulty.
When caught with all four wheels of the car on wet trolley tracks the only safe way to get out without serious skidding is to slow down and sharply turn the front wheels to the right or left.

HOLDS HOME OWNING FIRST SAVING STEP

By STANLEY GOODE (of the real estate firm of Wallace and Goode)

Those who inherit the earth are the ones who begin by owning a home. The large estates and the tremendous fortunes of today all began by home ownership. The first step in saving is to own your own home. We all realize that regular and systematic saving is the only principle by which a person or family may gain financial freedom and build up resources for old age. It is generally conceded that most saving must be forced saving. Human nature is fickle—the man who determines to save ten dollars each week forgets his resolution when spring comes and the fish begin to bite or when he sees a new suit which appeals to his taste. If he has, however, purchased a small dwelling on easy terms and the payments are to be met regularly each month, he forces himself to meet each payment promptly and his savings continuously grow—he forgets certain pleasures and builds for his own and his family's future.

The ownership of a home should appeal to every thinking person, not only from the financial gain from such ownership, but from the duty owed the family. There are thousands of children growing up today who will not be able to remember, or recall a place called home. They have been moved from pillar to post, have never been settled in one place for more than a few months at a time. It certainly takes the joy out of a woman's life to have no home of her own.

Now that spring is here, buy a home, get the new lawn in, plant some trees and flowers and prepare a place in the hearts of your children that they may look upon, when you are gone, as a real "Home, SWEET HOME."

COUNTY MEN TO ATTEND EDISON RATE QUIZ

Four Orange county men will testify tomorrow at the final sessions of the Southern California Edison company rate hearing in the Los Angeles offices of the state railroad commission, it was stated here today. The names of these men were not disclosed.

Arguments for both sides are expected to be completed by tomorrow evening. Judge F. S. Britain and Senator Carr of Pasadena are working in conjunction, the former representing the farm bureau, and the latter his constituents.

The hearing has been in progress for several weeks.

FRUIT EXCHANGE PLANS TO SHIP 7,311 LEMON CARS AFTER MARCH 1

Estimate Is Less Than Last Year But Greater Than Any Other Season

YEAR TOTAL IS 8670

Statement Routs Claim That Freeze Caused Enormous Shortage In State

There will be no shortage of shipments of lemons from California in 1922.

This became known here today when there was received from the California Fruit Growers' exchange offices in Los Angeles a statement effectively putting to rest foreign importers who are striving to make it seem that there will be a considerable shortage in lemons due to the freeze in California.

The exchange, which is the central organization of the citrus associations of California, estimates the number of cars of lemons available for shipment this season, beginning March 1, as 7,311, as against 9,773 last year.

Total Not as Great.
While this total is not so great as last year's, it is greater than in any year previous to last year, it was pointed out.

In its review of the lemon situation, the exchange statement set forth that March 1 estimates sent in by the various associations giving the amount of fruit to be shipped during the remainder of the season showed 6,580 cars.

"There were shipped up to March 1 by the exchange 2,990 cars," the statement continues, "making a total for the season of 8,670 cars, compared with the estimate of January 1, 12,348 cars."

"This estimate does not change the damage estimate sent out shortly after the freeze. It even shows a few more cars than we have been figuring on."

Ship 7,311 Cars.
"Based on this estimate, there will be available for shipment from California after March 1, 7,311 cars, as compared with 9,778 last year, 7,227 in 1920, 6,790 in 1919, and 5,834 in 1918. The average for the past five years for this period is 7,069 cars, or an increase this year of 215 cars, compared with the average for the past five years. The average for the previous five years, 1912 to 1916, inclusive, is only 2,826 cars for the same period."

"During February the receipts of foreign lemons in New York, plus the California shipments, amounted to 361,730 boxes, February, 1921, 286,988, 1920, 404,337, 1919, 290,130. The total supply from September 1 to

No Witchery About Puretest Witch Hazel

PURETEST WITCH HAZEL is the finest made. That means it is produced in Vermont where the Witch Hazel plant abounds. It is double distilled from young plants which produce the best because they are tender and full of sap.

The young twigs are cut in small pieces at the season when the plant is in flower and distilled with pure spring water in the proportion of one part of twigs to two parts of water. For the cheaper grades of witch hazel one distilling is all that is required, this being the official U. S. P. requirements. But in making PURETEST WITCH HAZEL the distillate is poured over the twigs again and more twigs added so there will be twenty pounds of twigs to each gallon of extract. Then a second distilling is done. Then fifteen per cent of best grain alcohol is added as a preservative, and to increase the stimulating properties of the witch hazel.

So you see PURETEST WITCH HAZEL is double strength—the finest made.

at the expense of the health and strength of our growing generations. We have never had accurate data to use in refuting this accusation. We desire now to have cost data, the authenticity of which will be beyond question, to show that we are not making unjustifiable prices for our products.

Seek Stable Industry
"We sought, further, to show both the consumer and producer exactly the cost of producing milk to furnish a back ground, upon which to build a stable industry. We realize the people's vital need of milk. We realize our responsibility and do not desire the supply of milk to cease or diminish.

"Another purpose was to attempt to establish a means for calculation of feed values. The investigation is being carried on, and will give figures both in terms of cash costs this current year and in terms of feeds and hours of man and horse labor necessary to produce a gallon of milk or a pound of butter.

"This survey was started not with the least intention of exposing anyone, or of throwing any shadows, but merely to give us, as dairymen, figures which we can lay before legislators and consumers and which will show them we are not profiteers.

"These then were the reasons why we asked the California legislature for an appropriation in 1921. We hope to attain several specific results.

"We desire to know, community by community over the entire state, the cost of production so that we can tell what type of dairying is feasible in that community. By type is meant method of marketing the product, either as market milk, manufacturing milk, butter or cheese.

"This is a movement started by the dairymen for the benefit of the dairymen and consumers alike. The information obtained will be placed at the disposal of anyone who can make use of it. The success of the investigation depends on the full cooperation of the dairymen. It is the dairymen's investigation the men who are doing the work are working for the dairymen—the results will benefit the dairymen. Therefore, let every man get behind the work and do all in his power to make the survey a success and thus do all that any one man can do to help the industry as a whole."

FRUIT EXCHANGE TO SHIP LEMONS

February 25, this year, amounted to 1,179,240, in 1921, 1,589,844, 1920, 1,690,933, and 1919, 1,617,953. This shows the total supply of lemons so far this season to be the largest of which we have record.

"Foreign importers are endeavoring to make it appear that there will be considerable shortage in lemons due to the freeze in California. This is answered by showing up to the present time a larger total supply than ever before and our estimates for the rest of the season of 7,311 cars is only 73 cars less than the average shipments from California during the same period for the past five years. The average supply from Sicily for the same period was 2,112 cars. It is reasonable to expect the importations are likely to exceed this average of the past five years when we consider that the importations during February this year amounted to 63,950 cars, compared with 3,425 cars in 1921, 37,160 in 1920, and 18,600 in 1919, and when the quantity now in sight is equal to the average during the past five years.

"The market at this time is very satisfactory. P. o. b. prices at this time are higher than any year except 1918. This is due to considerable influenza throughout the country and an earlier spring demand than usual due to the remembrance of the high prices of last summer.

"The large quantity of foreign lemons afloat is no doubt due to the importers feeling that the crop in California was greatly damaged, that we would have very few lemons for shipment and they would be in a position to bring in a large supply and sell on a bare market, but California has kept the markets supplied and recent sales of foreign lemons have shown a loss to the importers."

Wishing for sleep
is a poor way to get it

A LITTLE wisdom in the daytime is a better assurance of rest than any amount of anxious wishing when nerves are a-jangle at night.

What you do at noon often has more influence on sleep than what you want and hope for, at midnight.

Coffee's drug element, caffeine, whips up the nerves, and when its use is continued there's usually a penalty which no amount of mental effort can avoid.

The part of wisdom, as so many thousands have found, is to turn away from nerve-stimulation and adapt rich, delicious Postum as the mealtime drink. Postum delights the taste, but brings no disturbance to nerves or digestion. Even the little children can share in the enjoyment of Postum at any meal.

It's better to anticipate warnings than to be driven by them.

It's better to encourage and preserve sound nerves and complete health than to listen to the clock ticks at night and say, "I wish!"

You can get Postum wherever good food or drink is sold and served. An order today may be the beginning, for you, of the great satisfaction and comfort which so many others have found in Postum.

Your grocer has both forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

EVENING SALUTATION

You cannot see the distant heaven. You can not even say assuredly that you know the love of God. But you do know that to be brave and true and pure is better than to be cowardly and false and foul.—Phillips Brooks.

SANTA ANA'S WATER SUPPLY

One of Santa Ana's most pressing problems was presented by Dr. C. D. Ball in a communication published in The Register yesterday. That problem concerns Santa Ana's future water supply. The situation is clearly and forcefully outlined in the figures presented by Dr. Ball is one that calls for careful consideration.

There were many angles to the proposal to establish a city reservoir in the Santiago canyon. Representatives of the Serrano and John T. Carpenter water companies declared that the site selected by Santa Ana officials was not a feasible dam site. However, the irrigators were interested chiefly, and rightly so, in the protection of their water rights, and their contention throughout was that Santa Ana is in no position to establish a legal claim to any of the waters of the Santiago creek above the intake of the water companies. The issue is one that unquestionably will have to be fought out in the courts, as the first step that may be undertaken by this city should the proposal to procure an interest in the Santiago be revived.

The point of law might have been cleared up in the action before the state water commission had not Santa Ana, by failing to submit a brief to back up its position, virtually withdrawn its contention. The water companies naturally take the view that Santa Ana's action is a confession of no legal rights in the creek at the point mentioned in the petition. The city, so far as the water companies are concerned, might establish whatever rights it pleases below their intake, but below the intake there are no reservoir sites.

Santa Ana may have to look elsewhere than to the Santiago creek for its future water supply. Dr. Ball, of course, may be right in his contention that the principle of eminent domain is so involved in the Santiago creek matter that the city's rights can be established. However, for the sake of considering the matter, let us admit for the moment that the law is such that Santa Ana cannot now nor ever hope to obtain a supply of water from the Santiago creek above the intake of the Villa Park and El Modena water companies. In that case, where can we go?

Santa Ana might be interested in the recently discussed Prado reservoir. That reservoir would furnish not only all the domestic water the Santa Ana valley would need but probably as much irrigation water as it could use.

Or, Santa Ana might secure water bearing lands in the Santa Ana river, and pump water into a reservoir in the Bixby hills. This water would be distributed to Santa Ana by gravity. The advantage over the open stream reservoir would be that the water would come from the ground absolutely pure.

The entire situation is one that calls for a close investigation.

SENATOR JOHNSON

It seems unfortunate that Senator Johnson should "fly in the face" of so many of his friends in California by opposing the ratification by the senate of the Four Powers Pact, so called. But if Senator Johnson believes with all his heart and soul and mind and body that he is right, as he undoubtedly does, how can he do otherwise and maintain his self-respect?

The Register itself doesn't like Senator Johnson's opposition to the Four Powers Pact. We believe the Senate ought to ratify the pact and that it will soon do so. But we are for Johnson for Senator despite our disapproval of his attitude in this matter. We do not believe that any of his friends are justified in turning against him on this account, and hope and believe that few of them will do so.

On the other hand, The Register is not in sympathy with the attitude of some of Senator Johnson's friends—a sort of "the-king-can-do-no-wrong" attitude. Senator Johnson is not infallible, nor are his errors to be condoned because he is Johnson. But when his friends do not agree with him on such a question, for instance, as the Four Power Pact—a question on which he is as apt to be right as are those who disagree with him—such disagreement, in our judgment, is not just cause for desertion of the Senator in his campaign for re-election.

Johnson may not always be right—and yet he may be dead right when we don't agree with him, at that,—but he is always sincere and honest, open and above board, able, virile and valiant—a red-blooded, two-fisted fighter.

Such a man, even though right only half the time—and Johnson's batting average is far better than that—makes a better United States Senator than a fellow who goes pussy-footing around in man-of-the-horse fashion, not only never getting anywhere but not even ever starting.

Johnson combines culture with courage, candor with conservatism, caution with conviction in admirable measure and proportion.

In personality, in ability, in forcefulness, he is a credit to California and a national asset. He is a good politician, but a better statesman. He has vision. He is a student. When he talks he says something, and he knows when and how to be silent.

Johnson is old enough to have wisdom and young enough to have enthusiasm and physical and mental vigor. May his future years be many and full of usefulness.

THE WASTE OF MISTRIALS

Comment on the recent mistrials of "Fatty" Arbuckle, Arthur Burch and Madalynne Obenchain shows a decided trend of public opinion in favor of a two-thirds or a three-fourths or even a four-fifths jury verdict. In a stubbornly fought case it is almost impossible to get a unanimous verdict from a jury of twelve, and the many second and third trials of such cases often if not usually result in a dismissal—nothing accomplished except the expenditure of vast sums of the people's money.

We are not unmindful of the sacredness of human life and liberty, and we fully agree with the sentiment or principle that it is better that ten guilty men should escape punishment than that one innocent man should be deprived of liberty or life. But sometimes the guilty will escape and less often innocent will be punished even when twelve men must agree before a verdict can be rendered; and it is not probable that eight or ten out of twelve would err in judgment any oftener than the whole twelve would.

Certainly if it can be done without injustice it would seem advisable to amend the law governing verdicts by juries so as to lessen the chances of mistrials with their attendant waste of time and money.

RIOTING STUDENTS

There is no more effective way to strengthen one's wavering optimism about the progress of the human race and its civilization than to take an occasional backward glance at some phase of the "good old days." Dr. Albert Mansbridge of England, lecturing in the East on "The Medieval University," enables one to take such a look at student life in the early days of English and continental universities.

There is no need to repeat the harsh criticisms which have been made of present-day American students. If the worst things said against them were true, however—and of course the worst is never true—they would still show up fairly well with those medieval students. Says Dr. Mansbridge:

"Students rioted whenever they were displeased or offended, as their most effective method of protest; when this failed, migration presented itself as an alternative." They simply packed up then few belongings and adjourned to other halls of learning. "On the whole there seems to have been as much fighting as studying among the students in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries."

Again: "The student made his own laws, and conformed to the customs of his kind. They were a wild and motley crew."

The student who starts a riot today is likely to be expelled from school and to find it very difficult to migrate to another university without an honorable dismissal from the first. As for education and the acquisition of knowledge, those two things go on inevitably and seem to be little hindered by current student customs in any period.

Cured by Advertising

Riverside Press
Advertising during periods of lessened demand has proved to be one of the chief means of reducing seasonal unemployment, today a most serious handicap to American industry. Hundreds of thousands of men are laid off annually in the various trades because the sale of goods which they produce is limited to certain months.

The president's conference on unemployment, in its efforts to formulate plans for reducing nationwide joblessness, has found American resourcefulness already mitigating this evil. Inquiries have brought to light, for example, that one New York company, which does a large business in dried fruits, by advertising to the consumer has lengthened the season for eating its products.

A Cleveland firm manufacturing men's clothing, in which the styles fluctuate by seasons, has kept up continuous production by standardizing its products and advertising inducements to retailers for accepting deliveries over an extended period, instead of only at the opening of the season.

Another Ohio corporation which makes women's clothing has achieved the same results. It makes models according to carefully laid plans, and by advertising has inspired retailers with confidence in its judgment as to the goods and the seasonal demand for them.

A Rochester men's clothing factory fills in dull periods between seasons by making a stock of conservative models, and advertising mid-season sales at prices which cover overhead but leave no profit.

Pennsylvania manufacturers of glass, formerly a very intermittent industry, have stabilized considerably by lowering prices of goods ordered at certain seasons, and advertising this reduction. Customers have taken advantage of this cut, thus spreading work over the entire year and enabling the makers to keep on their employees.

In Brooklyn a shoe corporation employing thousands now advertises throughout the year instead of only in season, and has induced its customers to cooperate by placing orders when the firm most needs them. They also advertise a staple shoe not subject to seasonal demand, which helps the retailers, as well.

Death the Chauffeur

San Diego Union
Careless or unregulated driving of automobiles continues to be the dominant menace to human life in the United States, notwithstanding the fact that automobile accidents are declared by the National Safety Council "pre-eminent among the preventable causes of death."

One of the indictments against the ungovernable automobile found by the Council was that outside the city of New York "there is practically no limitation as to who may drive a motor vehicle." Children, aged persons, the lame, the blind, and the deaf are constantly "dealing out death" to those who use the roads." Last week, in San Diego, a man 80 years old, blind in one eye, drove his automobile into a street car, killing his wife and seriously injuring himself and a friend. In Elmhurst recently a woman was killed by a car driven by a man 92 years of age. These accidents would indicate the necessity of the laws governing the operation of automobiles.

The death rate from this cause in the United States in 1915 when only 2,445,664 cars were in use, totaled 5900; in 1919 the deaths were 9825; in 1920 the total had increased to 10,000; and it is estimated that the number of fatalities from this cause in 1921 will, when compiled, approximate 15,000. If the death rate continues to increase proportionately the battles of the great war will sink into insignificance in comparison with that of the automobile in America.

In the state of New York last year, 1079 persons were killed by automobiles and more than 40,000 injured. The casualties of the battle of Gettysburg, the fiercest of the Civil war, were 5664 killed and 27,046 wounded. In the war with Germany 34,548 Americans were killed in action—only about double the number of persons killed by automobiles in the United States last year.

The total number of injured in automobile accidents was more than 40,000—the total for the United States was far in excess of the number wounded in the war. Enforcement of the laws on the statutes is fairly rigorous, therefore, in view of the statistics, it may be concluded that the laws themselves are not rigorous enough. They must be provided with sharper teeth. Perhaps it would be impossible to enforce a law compelling competence in the automobile drivers as a prerequisite to the issuance of a license; but there would be no difficulty in depriving those who are convicted of incompetence of their license to drive an automobile; and the law might also provide for confiscation of the offending car in flagrant cases.

There is only one way to avoid the peril of human fallibility, and that is by controlling and directing individual action. Governments are instituted and laws enacted solely for this purpose—and experience proves that even these are frequently fallible and ineffective.

Today's Talk

by George Matthew Adams

WAYS TO KEEP FRIENDS

I have been asked by one of the readers of these Talks to tell how friends may be kept. I give as the best rule for keeping a friend, the advice of another—a friend yourself!

We attract to ourselves in a large measure those qualities and characteristics in others which predominate in us, or which we desire should rule in us.

A friend is the most precious possession in this world. Therefore we should not regret the time and patience and control necessary to become one, so that we may hold not one—but many.

One of the most important ways to keep a friend after you have one, is to see his good points and play up to them.

The reason why it is so easy and natural to pick the flaws in our friends is that we have so many ourselves—and that makes them quickly recognizable in others.

But I know of no better way to LOSE a friend than to start finding fault with him.

Learn to overlook, and then you will be surprised at the many wonderful qualities your friend possesses which you had no idea he did.

Thoughtfulness toward those you love and want as your friends will bring you rich rewards of happiness. Try to think of the little things which might bring sunshine and cheer to your friend.

Be tolerant—and be just. How inclined we all are to see the unjust acts of our friend without weighing our own sense of justice!

We all crave friends deeply. Nevertheless it is well that we do not see too much of those who are dearest to us. The freshness of friendship is one of the most precious gifts that can come to us. To give something new and attractive to those we so much love, every time we come in contact with them, is a great preservative of the relationship of friendliness.

And—be kind! It's an overworked word, I know. But it has never lived its life out.

Unkind words can never be recalled. And sometimes, as the years thicken, these words sink deeper into the heart—and every once in a while, they hurt in their hidden nest.

A sincere friend can afford to smile many things away!

BLIND

I often look upon the sun and moon
And all the gifts that God has lent to sight,
And wonder which of them I'd miss the most
If called upon to pass into the night.

But here my brain grows dizzy, and turns sick,
And I can think no longer in this vein,
The glory of the stars—the dewy rose—
And all things, great and small, tear me with pain.

Again Claims Biggest

Stockton Record

Let's get this thing straight. Columbia university's latest announcement is that it has 32,420 students enrolled. It claimed to be the largest university in the world. Berkeley comes back with a claim to that distinction with 43,266 enrolled. A statement from the office of the president says that the figures are not included in the Columbia figures. We are excluding the university farm at Davis and the summer session, both of which are departments of the university. Our extension enrollment is 22,744 and the regular academic enrollment is 20,522. That makes 43,266, or 10,846 more than the Columbia figure.

The New York report says: "The number of undergraduates at Columbia university is now 2846, including 2024 at Columbia college, 732 at Barnard and 90 at university undergraduates, a new status. In the graduate and professional schools are 8193 students, including among others, 622 studying law, 347 medicine, 161 engineering and chemistry, 65 architecture, 142 journalism, 318 business and 13 dentistry. Teachers college has 2222 students in the School of Education and 1675 in the School of Practical Arts. There are 583 students of pharmacy and 281 unclassified."

"University Extension has 19,953 students and the summer session 11,809. There are 1931 extramural students, 135 in Long Island College hospital, 232 in the home study division and 900 in special courses."

California seems to have the honors as far as numbers go. What we want is the best university in the world.

Bear Stories for Bedtime

CHAUTER 300
HOW NOT TO ATCH A BEAR
By Harvey Elliott

The circus man and his Pal thought that their end had come. The "Wolf" of the little Bear above them scared them badly enough. The big, savage "Wolf" of Mother Bear made their blood run cold. But when they heard the awful howl "Wolf" of Father Bear, they were almost too stiff to run.

The circus man was lying under his armful of brush and he lay there as if he were dead. The other man got his legs limbered up enough to run. He made across the woods with his coat tail sticking straight out behind him. He never even looked around to see whether the circus man was coming or not. He supposed likely he was all chewed up by the Bears.

The circus man could see those Bears through his little pile of brush. He didn't mind the small Bear so much, but those two big Bears were just a little bigger than any he had ever seen in his life before. He thought he would be a fool to lie there under their noses. He jerked one leg a little to see if it would work.

Then the circus man saw Old Father Bear stick out his tongue and smack his lips. That was his signal to go. He gave that brush a heave, jumped to his feet and started his legs to working as hard as they would go. To help them along Father Bear gave another savage "Wolf!" just as the circus man was getting away.

Billy Bear laughed so hard that he rolled clear off their house. Father Bear's stomach was shaking up and down, which showed he was laughing, too. Mother Bear frowned and told them it was no laughing matter for two creatures like that to invade their home. "Indeed," she said, "they will maybe come back with their terrible guns and kill us all!"

By this time the circus man had reached the tent. He found his Pal leaning against a tree, fanning himself with his hat.

"Now I'm done with this Bear hunting business," said the Pal, "soon as he could get his breath."

"You can stay here and let the Bears eat you if you want to, but I'm going home."

"Not yet," said the circus man, who had begun to see the funny side. "We have just learned one other place not to try to go."

Young Bear and his Dad at his home were there. "My Daddy and Mammy are there."

"Aren't you disappointed?"

"Not at all. A man who can make a speech these days without arousing indignant comment is doing better than the average."—Washington Star.

ONE WAY OUT!

"Hello, Bill," he said. "Can you lend me a shilling, old sport?"

"Very sorry," replied the other. "I haven't a quarter, but I've got a dime."

"Never mind," said Jim. "Lend me that and owe me the other 15 cents."—Edinburgh Scotsman.

—Washington Star.

THE DISTRACTED CAPTAIN.

"They say Captain Jinks was very calm and collected after his accident this morning."

"Yes, yes, quite calm—he's still being collected, however."—Sun Dodger.

COUNTERACTED.

"I'm surprised to hear Maude is married. She once told me that she would never promise to obey any man."

"Oh, she got around that by making the bridegroom promise never to command."—Boston Transcript.

Undertakers eventually overtake the rest of mankind.
